ROCKY DRAFTING ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

UPI

Today's the Big Day for Rockefeller

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller, his confirmation as vice president assured, is preparing to join the Ford administration in a major domestic policy role.

The House was expected to give overwhelming approval to Rockefeller today and within an hour of the final vote he will be sworn in as 41st vice president in the first televised ceremony ever held in the Senate chamber.

President Ford planned to ride with Rockefeller along Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol for the ceremony, at which Ford will probably say a few words.

The 66-year-old former governor was nominated by Ford four months ago. He will be the richest man ever to hold high public office in America. Congressmen predicted there would be about 100 House votes against Rockefeller.

Most of the opposition came from liberals who said his wealth posed a conflict of interest and conservative Republicans who disagree with his policies.

Debate on the nomination was limited to six hours with two hours, given those opposing Rockefeller.

The confirmation — and Ford's succession to the presidency after Richard Nixon resigned — was the first time the President and vice president were put in office through a vote of Congress and not by the American people.

Ford said recently he expects Rockefeller to be a "full working partner," with special emphasis on domestic programs.

White House sources said the President was considering naming Rockefeller to head a newly created Domestic Policy Board composed of Cabinet officers and top presidential advisers.

Rockefeller has told newsmen he has not discussed his role with Ford extensively and noted that his only constitutional responsibility is to preside over the Senate.

Rockefeller's confirmation was originally thought to have posed no problems, based on his 15 scandal-free years as governor of New York.

But revelations that Rockefeller had made gifts and loans of $2.5 million to close associates, including Henry Kissinger, clouded the nomination.

Then it was revealed he had given tacit approval to a campaign biography critical of his 1970 gubernatorial opponent, former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg.

In the end the Senate Rules Committee said its investigation found no violation of law. Members accepted Rockefeller's apology for the Goldberg book incident.

Some members of the House, especially liberal Democrats, were less willing to accept quickly Rockefeller's explanation of the gifts and the book.

Rockefeller was unanimously approved by the Senate committee, and later by the Senate by a 90-7 vote. But 12 members of the House Judiciary Committee, all liberal Democrats, voted against the nomination.

Fish Going to Russia To Oversee Agreement

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th District) will journey to the Soviet Union early next month to oversee the implementation of an agreement which will give the Russians favored nation status in exchange for relaxed emigration policies by the USSR.

"I will be the first member of Congress with jurisdiction over emigration policy to enter the Soviet Union following enactment of the bill," Fish told the Freeman today.

Passage of the bill is considered certain despite recent statements by the Russian news agency Tass that the Soviet Union would not accept "Congressional interference" in Soviet emigration policies.

Fish does not take seriously the Soviet attack on the bill. "I agree with Sen. Jackson, the prime sponsor of the bill, that the statement (by Tass) was mostly for home consumption," Fish said.

According to the United Press International, a Senate/House conference committee has reached substantial agreement on a compromise bill and final draft language of the bill will be completed today. Passage could come by the end of the week.

Fish noted, however, that "the proof of the pudding on the Tass statement will come when I apply for a visa to travel to the Soviet Union."

Fish expects to leave for Moscow on either the first or second of January and return the night of Jan. 13. The 94th Congress convenes on Jan. 14.

Fish, who will be accompanied on the trip by his son, Hamilton III and his administrative assistant John Barry, (the Younger Fish and Barry will be traveling at their own expense) will represent Congress in his capacity as the ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on Emigration of the House Judiciary Committee.

"The purpose of the trip is to talk to Americans at our diplomatic mission and to the Soviet emigration officials regarding new procedures that may be necessary to accommodate the increase in emigrants to the United States," Fish said.

Fish said the agreement was not restricted to Russian Jews but added, "that's certainly the thrust of it."

"The whole issue of refugees is under our (the committee's) jurisdiction," Fish said. "We believe it will be a very big issue in 1975." Fish revealed that he and Committee Chairman Joshua Eilberg of Pennsylvania had planned visits to Palestine and Cyprus to observe refugee problems first hand but that Eilberg "couldn't make it at the last minute."

"We expect a dramatic increase in the number of Soviet Jews who will want to emigrate to the United States," Fish said. Fish explained that he would be dealing only with emigration to this country. "We don't get involved if they choose to emigrate to Israel but the fact is an increasingly larger percentage want to come to the United States, rather than Israel as was initially the case."

U.S.-Israeli Relations Striking a Sour Note

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli news reports said today angry outbursts have flared between Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Israel's ambassador to Washington. A government source hinted of a souring of U.S.-Israeli relations.

The sharp differences of opinion arose between Kissinger and Ambassador Simcha Dinitz over the Israeli position on talks with Egypt about an interim peace settlement, the reports said.

They said Egypt has rejected Israeli proposals for a settlement because Cairo is not prepared to make political concessions at this stage. But, the newspaper Ha'aretz said, Kissinger told Dinitz "there is room to believe that it's possible to continue negotiations."

Kissinger and Dinitz met for two hours Tuesday and again for 30 minutes at the White House Wednesday night following a meeting there between President Ford and former Prime Minister Golda Meir.

"An angry conversation was held in the White House at midnight last night between Kissinger and Dinitz," Ha'aretz said in a dispatch from Washington. "The participants appeared to be excited."

"The contents of the talks are unknown but they continued for 30 minutes and during them the participants appeared to be grim and angry. It appears there were exchanges in connection with the estimation of Egypt's reaction to Israel's proposals" on an interim agreement.

"The conversation came as a surprise and was stormy."

The government source did not rule out the possibility of a rift between the United States and Israel over the Israeli position on a second stage agreement with Egypt.

"Differences of opinion are not ruled out," he said. "Differences can occur between friendly countries with a common goal and they can be overcome."

He said a headline position by Cairo will make it more difficult to start talks over an interim settlement.

"Still," he said, "it does not close the door to negotiations. Israel's position has not changed."

Meanwhile, former Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir met with President Ford Wednesday for 75 minutes, and was later honored by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger at a dinner also attended by prominent members of Congress and the U.S. Jewish community.

Neither Mrs. Meir, who was voted out of office in September, nor the White House would say what she and Ford talked about.

"It was a wonderful meeting," she said with a smile. Asked if she was encouraged, she replied, "I'm always encouraged."

Kissinger, in his introduction at the dinner, said it was no secret that he and Mrs. Meir had their differences during the time she was in office.

"I don't want to paint too idyllic a picture," the secretary said. "I've always had the sense that I was being scolded by a great aunt."

"But, 'these family quarrels are always of great service — first one knows that they can be settled, and second, that the bonds between the two countries will be tighter than ever.'"

UCCC Proposal Brings $60,000 Grant

By LYNN MULVANEY

STONE RIDGE

It looks like Ulster County Community College will be the first and the only community college in the country selected to conduct a model two-year associate degree program in water quality maintenance under a grant provided by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency.

The agency reportedly was so impressed with a proposal of UCCC Professor of Biology Richard B. Glazer, calling for a two-year course for water quality maintenance technicians, that it is apparently willing to fund such a program for five years at between $50,000 and $60,000 a year.

The only stipulation would be that the county waive tuition for any out-of-state students who enroll in the water maintenance program.

County Legislator Stephen G. Hyatt (R-Dist. 2), chairman of the Community College Committee of the county board, will ask the legislature to act at its Dec. 30 annual session regarding the waiver which he said would not cause the county to lose any money. Either funds from the grant or a charge back to the FEP agency would take care of any lost tuition, he said.

The proposal to establish the program is in line with a recent federal ruling that all surface water, streams and ponds, which receive sewage, be monitored.

At the present time, all monitors of such surface waters are required to have four-year college engineering degrees.

Hyatt explained that UCCC President Robert T. Brown cannot reply to the federal agency's proposal until the legislature clears the way by acting favorably on the tuition waiver.

"It's quite an honor for Ulster County," the Hurley legislator said, adding that the UCCC legislative committee is solidly behind the program.

He also explained that the federal agency cannot make a firm commitment until Brown replies to the proposal.

It is not anticipated that there will be any legislative opposition to the program.

Members of the Ulster County Community College Committee include, in addition to Hyatt, Louis Bevier (R-Dist. 8), Philip H. Davis (R-Dist. 5), Glenn A. DeBrosky (R-Dist. 6), Ernest J. Gardner (R-Dist. 5), Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), Lewis Kirschner (D-Dist. 6), Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 6) and William R. West (R-Dist. 4) and Brian R. White (R-Dist. 8).

Almost One of Every Five Affected Heavy Layoffs at Auto Plants

DETROIT (UPI) — At least 142,000 hourly workers — almost one of every five in the U. S. auto industry — will be laid off by the end of January. Analysts say the figure will grow as new car sales drop even further.

General Motors Wednesday said 91,000 workers will be on indefinite layoffs by the end of next month, including 16,000 more than originally planned.

Chrysler confirmed that many white collar workers — 20,000 according to one report — will be on temporary layoffs next month, along with 31,000 hourly workers already on longterm furloughs.

The Ford Motor Co., with close to 20,000 hourly workers already idled indefinitely or scheduled to be laid off, was expected to detail even more cutbacks before Christmas.

The No. 2 automaker also has 3,000 salaried workers off the job. Industry analysts said output in the first three months of 1975 originally had been targeted at around 1.7 million cars but was then trimmed to about 1.5 million and now won't even reach 1.4 million following the latest cuts.

Output of 1.4 million cars would be the worst for the industry since 1961.

The 142,000 hourly workers scheduled for indefinite layoffs by the end of January tops the 115,000 idled at the worst of the energy crisis cutbacks last winter.

While GM eliminates second shift operations at 11 car and truck assembly plants and schedules downtime of one to four weeks at 10 assembly plants, a Cadillac plant in Detroit will continue operating normally.

Cadillac sales in the first 10 days of December were up 18 per cent from a year ago and the plant has been working as much overtime as its union contract allows.

Modification of Saugerties Sewer System... 'No Opposition'

By TIM SCHUSTER

SAUGERTIES
The first of two scheduled public hearings on modification of the Village of Saugerties' sewerage plant system encountered no opposition Wednesday night.

The proposal would have the village enter into contracts calling for $54,000 in stage one of the system upgrading, and for $1,954 million for stage two of the project.

Stage one was described by village engineer Chris Larios as a plan for two pumping stations, a primary treatment plant, and settling stations.

The total project is reportedly state aided at an 87.5 per centage from the state.

Larios stated that while the village project has "nothing to do with the Barclay Heights" sewerage district, the village must be prepared to accept the effluent from Barclay Heights at its East Bridge Street plant.

He added that domestic users will pay the charge in the new costs, and that the village is pledged to accept 1/2 million gallons per day of sewerage of 1.3 million processed at the site.

The exact purpose of the hearings is to assess the village's willingness to finance anticipation notes for financing of the project. A second public hearing will be held, the date to be announced.

The private firm that conducted an environmental impact study for the district improvements, Environmental Assessment Council of New Brunswick, N.J., told the village board that it is about one half way through its impact study.

In other village business:
• A resolution was passed to open the village-installed drain on the Saugerties

School District property that is reportedly flooding the John Worthmann property. Village attorney William Brinnier stated that the village would be liable to a lawsuit in some action were not taken.

Mayor Vernon "Joe" Benjamin said that the area, a prime ice skating rink in Saugerties frequented by "at least a thousand youngsters," will have to be closed down due to the action.

• Trustee Erika Hinchey reported that the new teletype service for the village police department is in service, and cost about $10,000.

• A letter from Raymond J. Morris Jr., Ulster County Fire Coordinator, stated that the Ulster County Bureau of Fire Control will suspend its control of Curfew fire alarms, as in the Village of Saugerties at 10 p.m. nightly, as it is "getting to be a burden." As of January 1, 1975 the county will no longer control the curfew sirens. A motion by Trustee Richard Underhill will have the village supply a timer for the village curfew alarm.

• Mayor Benjamin said he had received several phone calls on garbage pickups; the contractor reportedly wants all garbage at curbside, and Benjamin said that some people "can't lift a garbage can." Trustee Walter Keefe suggested allowing free enterprise to find a contractor who would be willing to "serve the people..." and Trustee Robert Gardner suggested setting up the village's own refuse pickup system.

• The board meeting was adjourned in memory of former Fire Department Chief John Kane.

Personnel Matters in Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

Personnel matters highlighted Tuesday's meeting of the Ellenville Board of Education.

Tenure recommendations occupied part of the agenda. Superintendent of Schools James Evergetis declined to recommend two faculty members for tenure: Mrs. Roberta Putzer, a fifth grade teacher, and elementary librarian Patricia Majestic. Their probationary periods end Jan. 2, 1975.

Mrs. Harriet Lonstein was appointed as a replacement for Mrs. Putzer.

In other personnel action, John Sovak was named coach of the varsity ski team. Mrs. Kathleen O'Connor was appointed stenographer for the elementary principal. Mrs. Edith Pendrasky was named student supervision stenographer and Laura Irwin was appointed a clerical substitute.

The school board also gave 14 faculty members permission to use the high school gymnasium each Sunday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. through April for a personal physical fitness program.

In other matters, the board:

• Decided to sell a 1951 International dump truck to the highest bidder;
• Approved a resolution that requests the New York State School Boards Association to press for changes in the tenure law that would give the individual Board of Education final authority over tenure appointments. That authority currently rests with the district superintendent.

• Approved plans to refurbish the athletic track in preparation for upcoming track and field meets.
The school board's next meeting will be held Jan. 14.

UMW Approves a Revised Contract for 4,500

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers bargaining council has approved a revised contract proposal for about 4,500 mine construction workers whose picketing has kept many of the nation's soft coal mines closed.

But a dispute between truckers in Western Pennsylvania and the UMW threatens to prolong the shutdown.

The tentative agreement between negotiators for the construction workers and the Association of Bituminous Contractors was announced Wednesday night, and within hours the union bargaining council approved letting the rank-and-file vote.

A spokesman for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said the bargaining council, which rejected a contract proposal Dec. 10, approved the revised package "virtually unanimously."

Union officials said they expected a ratification vote to start Saturday or Sunday. Terms of the contract were not announced.

But even with rank-and-file approval and the end of picketing, the truck drivers could keep some of the nation's largest mines shut down.

Bargaining between the UMW and the Western Pennsylvania Coal Haulers Association broke off Tuesday night when the truckers turned down the UMW agreement with the coal operators, ratified by the miners Dec. 6.

"About 90 per cent of the independent coal truck drivers in the United States are in western Pennsylvania," said management spokesman Steve Cabot.

"In simple terms, most of the nation's largest mining operations are here. If the trucking of coal is not handled properly this could spiral into the worst strike this country could conceive of."

The 120,000 miners struck for 24 days in November and early December, but about 45,000 of them in five states stayed home after the main settlement rather than cross construction workers' picket lines.

The new agreement, reached with the help of federal mediators, provided for "five or six points of change" from the Dec. 10 proposal, a union spokesman said.

'Someone's Got to Answer for His Death'

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Accused mass murderer Paul John Knowles was shot to death Wednesday by police who said he was trying to escape.

One defense attorney said Knowles was well aware that if he tried to escape he would be killed and said, "Someone's got to answer for" his death.

"I discussed with him repeatedly the fact that he would be killed in an escape situation, and he understood that," said attorney Sheldon Yavitz. "Therefore, he was a model prisoner under the most strenuous of circumstances."

Knowles, 28, was charged with seven murders in seven states and was suspected of seven more murders. Another one of his attorneys said

Knowles boasted of killing as many as 35 persons.

Knowles was shot and killed while struggling with Sheriff Earl Lee and Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent Ronnie Angel in Lee's police car. Police said Knowles freed one hand from his cuffs and tried to snatch the sheriff's gun. Both Lee and Angel shot him.

Knowles, a paroled convict from Jacksonville, Fla., was being taken to Clayton County, south of Atlanta, where police said he had told them a gun used in two of the murders had been hidden.

Yavitz said he would fight for custody of tape recordings Knowles gave Yavitz with instructions to play only after his death.

Another Knowles attorney, Charles Marchman of Macon, said that Knowles described 16 murders in the tapes and he boasted in private of 20 to 35 murders, mainly for notoriety and sex.

"Whether he was bragging, I don't know," said Marchman, who said he talked with Knowles on four or five occasions.

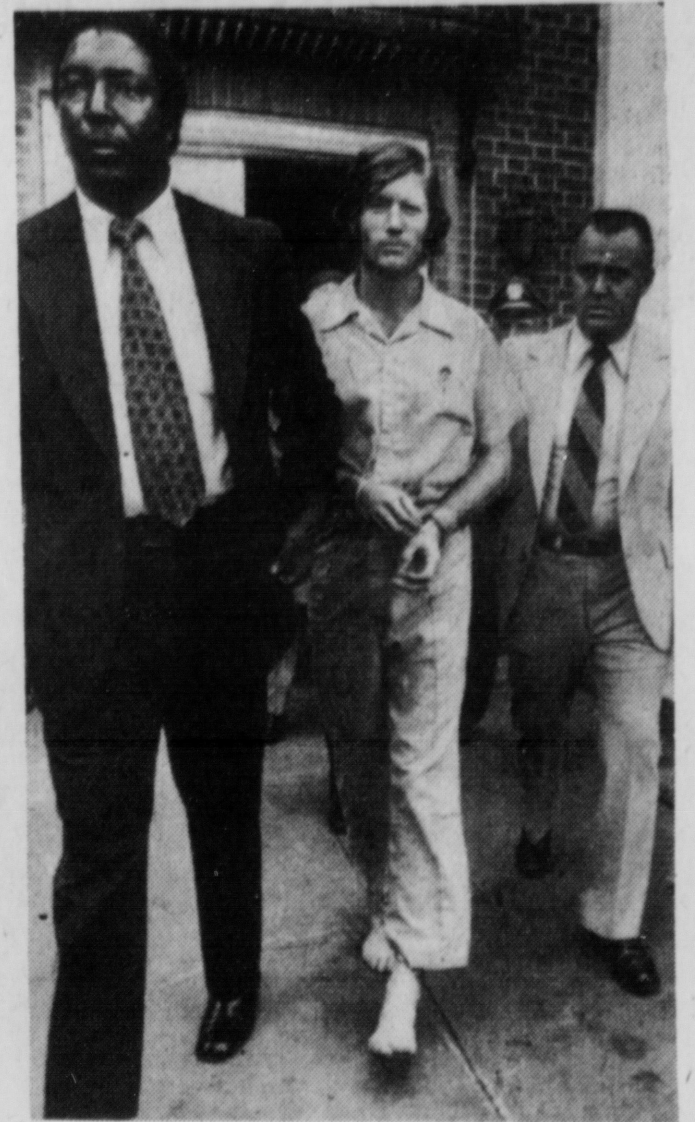

Yavitz said, "I wonder what right they have to take the life of an alleged defendant or suspect in a crime before he is proven guilty under our system of justice. Someone's got to answer for it."

Knowles was charged with murdering Carswell Carr and his 15-year-old daughter, Mandy, Nov. 6. Carr was stabbed and the girl was strangled.

He was also charged in the slaying of Florida State Trooper Charles Campbell and James Meyer, a Wilmington, Del., businessman. They were abducted from Tallahassee, Fla., and their bodies later found near Perry, Ga.

Other crimes with which he was charged were the strangulation of Alice Curtis and Marjorie Howie of the Jacksonville area shortly after he escaped from jail there last summer, and the death of Lima, Ohio, power company supervisor William Bates, who was strangled.

Authorities in Alabama and Connecticut have said Knowles was a suspect in murders in those states.

ACCUSED SLAYER IN CUSTODY (UPI)

Eight Wine Dealers Are Convicted

PARIS (UPI) — The conviction of eight wine dealers for fraud has damaged the worldwide mystique of Bordeaux vintages and shattered the reputation of one of France's proudest wine houses.

A Bordeaux court punctured the snob appeal of the region's famed wines Wednesday, sentencing the dealers to prison terms and $8 million in fines for bottling cheap wine under fancy labels.

Jon Winroth, an American wine expert who runs the Academie du Vin wine-tasting school in Paris, predicted years of worldwide skepticism about Bordeaux vintages.

"A lot of the mystique of Bordeaux is pretty badly damaged," he said. "People will mistrust the name for a few years until the scandal fades."

The eight defendants were convicted of buying cheap wine from the Languedoc region, doctoring it with chemicals and selling the product as label-controlled Bordeaux.

Introducing THE SPOKE ACCOUNT

...and now SAWYER SAVINGS BANK can be your only bank

Because our banking system is now complete, you can forget about the bank you once needed for something similar to our new SPOKE accounts (Sawyer Payment Orders: Key to Economy).

WHAT ARE SPOKE ACCOUNTS?

Generally, these accounts provide a quick, convenient way to pay all your bills or to get cash. Safer than money to carry and use, they are accepted as money everywhere, and they are ideal for keeping records of important expenditures.

More specifically, in writing out each individual payment order, you are actually withdrawing funds from a no-passbook, no-interest account.

HOW DO I OPEN A SPOKE ACCOUNT?

To open your new SPOKE account, simply visit Sawyer Savings Bank and see one of our new account clerks. She will ask you to fill out a signature card and help you select from the wide assortment of payment order cover styles and colors we have available. You will then receive your free starter supply of payment orders for your new SPOKE account, along with a free Sawyer Savings Bank pen as a courtesy gift! Your fully personalized payment orders and deposit tickets will follow shortly in the mail. The minimum amount required to open a SPOKE account is $100.00. Subsequent deposits may be in any amount.

IS THERE A CHARGE FOR THIS SERVICE?

Your SPOKE account will be absolutely free of monthly charge, provided that a $200.00 balance is maintained in the account. Paid payment orders resulting in an account balance of less than $200.00 create a one-time monthly charge of $2.00. In other words, the maximum monthly charge is $2.00, depending on the balance you maintain in your account.

There will be a $2.00 charge for each "Stop Payment Order" received by us on your payment order account and a $1.00 charge for each returned payment order (for insufficient funds, signature missing, etc.) The law prohibits overdraft privileges on payment order accounts.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Realizing how difficult it is for many senior citizens to maintain a $200.00 balance in a payment order account, the above balance provisions will be waived for anyone over age 65. Simply show us your Senior Citizens Identification Card, or other proof, when you open your account.

HOW MAY I BE CERTAIN OF MY BALANCE?

Sawyer Savings Bank will send you a monthly statement of your payment order account, listing all deposits and payments from your account, along with all of your cancelled payment orders. The balance of your account will appear on your statement. This balance is easily reconcilable to your personal record in your payment order book. Additionally, any inquiries regarding your account balance will be handled quickly and cheerfully by our staff, and your answer will be an up-to-the-minute balance, not a balance that is one or two days old.

THIS IS THE ACCOUNT FOR YOU!

Sawyer Savings Bank does not require that your payment order account be "linked" in any way to a savings account. Our SPOKE accounts are available to everyone, whether or not you are presently using any of our wide range of banking services. However, if you are finding it difficult to save systematically, we will be happy to help you! All that is necessary is your signature on an authorization form, and we will transfer any predetermined amount from your SPOKE account to your Regular or Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal savings account each month. Both Regular and Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal savings accounts earn 5 1/4 % per annum at Sawyer Savings Bank, the highest rate allowed by law in New York State.

We invite you to be among the first to open a payment order account at Sawyer Savings Bank. Sawyer Savings Bank can now be your only bank. For service and satisfaction. For convenience. Forever.

Their motto is "Wimachtendienk Wikhetchik" in the Delaware Indian language. The translation: "Brotherhood Builders."

The group is the Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, now actually two groups, the Kingston Indians and the Troop 12 Indians, and they have been building brotherhood in the mid-Hudson area for 35 years. From modest beginnings as a drum and bugle corps with 18 members in 1939, the Indians have steadily grown with each passing year until now there are more than 200 youngsters and youths in the organization. And the annual budget has grown to over $50,000, raised primarily through the sale of advertisements and tickets for parades and competitions, fund raising activities such as the sale of Christmas candles or rummage sales and penny socials sponsored by the Mothers' Club, and membership dues.

The money goes for such necessities as uniforms ($100 each), instruments (up to $750 for some), a professional staff of instructors in choreography, marching and music, and fees for transportation (some $20,000 annually).

The Indians travel more than 5,000 miles each year making more than 60 appearances between the Kingston and Troop 12 Indians.

Considering only the number of miles traveled, dues of $10 per year for the Kingston Indians (for youths age 14 through 21) and $5 for the Troop 12 Indians (for youngsters and youths age 8 to 14), the Indians might be considered the cheapest way to travel.

Of course, music and marching are actually the Indians' forte, and members (both male and female since 1970) put in many hours of practice.

Ralph Shapiro, who has been director of the Indians since the beginning, estimates the junior group puts in about 450 hours a year between practice and performance, and the senior group practices and performs nearly 1,000 hours a year.

Practice time is less during the school year than during the summer, according to Shapiro. "We try not to interfere with school work," he said. "But once school is out we keep them working."

The big local events annually for the Indians are the Pow-Wow Preview, held in the late spring, and the Pow-Wow of Junior Champions, held during the summer.

The work (which seems more like fun to most members) has led to awards for the Indians as a group, and perhaps something more to the Indians as individuals; not one of the 4,000 members over the years has been involved in serious trouble, according to Shapiro.

Adults can take a part in the future success of the Indians by joining the Indians' Committee, chaired by Kingston Deputy Police Chief William Slover, who can be contacted for information.

Pentagon Orders Reform of Tax-Subsidized Dining Rooms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has ordered a reform of tax-subsidized, closed-door dining rooms for military brass and other top officials. The reform may make the meals even cheaper.

Generals and high-ranking civilians who eat in the Pentagon's five executive dining rooms pay the cost of the food, but nothing for rent, staff, utilities and other overhead.

A civilian cafeteria operator said labor adds 50 per cent to the cost of food in the average cafeteria.

The Pentagon says $1.03 million in taxpayers' money is spent on the dining rooms. The House Appropriations Committee has called such subsidies "excessive." Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., called them "ridiculous."

Following years of criticism, the Pentagon has announced it was establishing a committee to oversee the dining rooms.

The directive said nothing about charging for salaries and overhead, and a Pentagon spokesman said no charges would be made unless the rules are changed.

The chairman of the committee is D.O. Cook, a civilian administrator who happens to eat often at one of the closed dining rooms.

Pentagon sources said the committee would probably order all five to buy centrally for the first time, which would probably lower food costs somewhat.

A civilian cafeteria owner agreed, saying the five dining rooms separately placed orders too small to get the best prices.

Prices now vary. The Army charges an average of $1.75, a spokesman said, for a soup to nuts meal featuring, for example, sirloin of beef teriyaki.

The Navy charges $2.50 for a multicourse meal that might feature rock lobster tail or filet mignon.

Those barred from the private dining rooms wonder why the top officers, making $31,000 a year and up, should get subsidized meals.

"I thought food stamps were for the poor," said one lower ranking officer. Others defend the dining rooms as a perquisite of rank.

The dining rooms are operated by the three services, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Secretary of Defense. About 500 of the 25,000 persons who work in the Pentagon are admitted. Pentagon officials have defended the closed dining rooms as "a secure area" where officials can discuss classified material.

'It Would Make Your Blood Chill'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elderly patients confined in at least half the nation's 23,000 nursing homes may be receiving substandard care, according to a subcommittee of the Senate Special Committee on Aging.

The subcommittee, in its second report on the U.S. nursing home industry, said this week abuses ranging from neglect to actual physical injury were commonplace in thousands of nursing homes.

"It would make your blood chill," the report said.

The subcommittee cited testimony by a Maine state senator who said an investigation of one nursing home in his state showed "the smothering to death of a patient who obviously was in a coma and taking too long to die."

Other common abuses included unsanitary conditions; poor food quality or preparation; hazards to life and limb; lack of dental, eye or foot care; theft from patients; inadequate control of drugs; reprisals against complainers; assaults on human dignity; and profiteering and cheating.

The subcommittee's first report issued last month called nursing home health and safety inspections "a national farce."

The Senate panel concluded, on the basis of 15 years of gathering evidence, "that over 50 per cent of the nursing homes in the United States are substandard ... with one or more life-threatening conditions," the report said.

It quoted the testimony of a suburban Minneapolis woman whose mother suffered a stroke and was admitted to a nursing home. The woman said she returned the next morning and found her mother nude and tied in a bed.

"It's seared into my memory, seeing her struggling to free herself, crying out for someone to help her," she said. "She clung to me and cried like a child over and over again: 'Thank God you've come, thank God you've come.'"

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 19, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—President Ford has no intention of taking Sen. Barry Goldwater's advice that he park Air Force One in the hangar and give full attention to the economy. The President has told subordinates that he'll give top priority to the economic crisis but won't neglect his other presidential duties. He fully expects to continue his foreign travel, with scheduled visits to China, Europe and India.

NIXON'S RELIGION:

Friends of Richard Nixon wouldn't be surprised to see him quietly adopt the Catholic faith. He was raised in a devout Quaker home, but, according to his friends, he is impressed with Catholic doctrine and ritual. They say he has had a lot of time to reflect since he left the White House. He is a loner who seldom confides his innermost thoughts to his friends. But he has dropped favorable remarks lately about the Catholics.

TAX AVOIDER: Phantom billionaire Howard Hughes, one of the world's wealthiest men, has been able to get away without paying federal income taxes year after year. Sources with access to his tax returns tell us that once in the 1960s he was stuck with a $7 million tax liability. But more often he paid absolutely no federal income taxes at all. One device he has used to avoid taxes has been diverting money into the nonprofit Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

RECORD SPENDING: President Ford will break all spending records next year. At secret meetings, his budget experts have acknowledged that the deficit is likely to reach the all-time high of $35 billion in the President's next budget. An anticipated $112 billion military budget will run up the deficit. Ford has also failed to cut back the budget he inherited from ex-President Nixon. This is now expected to reach $310 billion, a $20 billion deficit by the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

OIL PROFITS: The giant oil companies are supposed to be fierce competitors. But when we cited the low corporate taxes some oil companies pay, Sun Oil rushed to the defense of Gulf and Mobil. Sun Oil distributed a letter declaring that its two rivals had paid 63.2 per cent and 58.4 per cent of their respective taxable incomes to the U. S. Treasury. The letter, referring to our column, added, "One of us just has to be wrong." True, Sun Oil is wrong. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., has just released a study based on confidential tax records. Although he used "Company A,B,C" etc., to identify the oil companies, we have broken his code. The Jackson figures prove that for five years, not only Gulf and Mobil but Standard of California, Texaco and Exxon, paid U. S. tax rates ranging from 1.32 to 5.56 per cent.

PRESIDENTIAL GIFTS: Every time an American President takes off for a foreign country, his plane or backup jet is loaded with personal gifts like a jet-powered Santa Claus sleigh. The White House has kept mum about the gifts, but we have obtained a detailed list. Ex-President Nixon, for example, gave Egypt's President and Mrs. Anwar Sadat six plates with filigree-gilt-bordered color reproductions of Winslow Homer painting ($195) and an elaborate silver centerpiece ($205). Other foreign presidents and pashas have received Bulova Accutron clocks stamped with the presidential seal; Reed and Barton centerpieces; General Anilene "Viewmasters"; music boxes, Boehm porcelain warblers, bunting and other birds; a Franklin Mint collection of state medallions; a porcelain statue of Queen Esther; a Tiffany silver urn; Pickard and Lenox bowls; Steuben containers. The money for these gifts comes from a special $2.1 million State Department fund set aside for "emergencies."

COLD WINTER: Don't worry about the severe winter that has been predicted. There should be enough heating oil, natural gas, coal and electricity to keep American homes warm. This is the estimate of the Federal Energy Administration, which has been checking quietly into the reserve supplies. There's one hitch: the cost of home heating has gone up and is still rising.

FBI HANDBOOK: The FBI employee handbook is almost as secret as the FBI's famous dossiers. We have had access to a handbook and can report it bans all employees from discussing anything that goes on in the FBI, subject to dismissal, even if it doesn't deal with official FBI business. Employees are barred from doing anything that might "embarrass" the FBI and must report every parking ticket to their bosses.

Freeman Editorials

Hard Times for Pornography

The pornography business, after flourishing over the past decade or so, appears to be in trouble. There are various reasons for this, among them the general economic slowdown. Most notably, an ambiguous Supreme Court obscenity ruling has tended to make local prosecutors more zealous in moving against purveyors of questionable publications, films and other material.

Another factor is that an increasingly jaded public seems to have become surfeited with the sick garbage known as hard core pornography. The owner of a so-called porno movie house in San Francisco says that his business is off sharply from last year. Similar reports are heard elsewhere.

One curious aspect of the matter is the blurring of what once were rather distinct lines between serious films and the racier sort which resemble nothing so much as old-time "stag" movies. Some porno movie palaces report that box office receipts are down because legitimate film frequently portray what used to be taboo. After "Last Tango in Paris," for example, who needs to go to an "adult movie" theater to play voyeur?

Americans of the present generation are less prudish than in the past, less easily shocked by more or less explicit depictions of sexual activity. This must have a bearing on the declining interest in films and printed matter which exploit sex without even the pretense of artistic purpose.

There may also be some truth in one "adult movie" theater operator's comment: "I suppose the general population gets bored with porn after awhile. I know I do."

Welcome End of 'No-Knock'

On the very day President Ford signed a repealer of the controversial "no-knock" drug law, a Tucson detective was shot to death when he and fellow policemen burst into a place without warning. Such episodes argue against the no-knock approach to law enforcement, but there also are other reasons to approve the current action of Congress and the President.

Fundamentally, the law passed several years ago was objectionable because it ran counter to the Fourth Amendment strictures against unreasonable searches and seizures. This part of our Constitution declares that no searches shall be made or property seized without "probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

Some might maintain that drug traffickers are beyond the pale, not entitled to such protection. The response to this is that once exceptions are made and basic laws do not apply equally to everyone, the rights of all citizens are threatened.

Growing Pains to Come

The 1970 census showed Arizona to have a population of around 1,800,000. A report for the Arizona Symposium on Energy, Environment and Growth predicts that the state's population may hit 5.8 million by the year 2000.

This prediction graphically foreshadows the sort of problem some parts of the country—most areas, in some degree—will face not many years hence. It requires little imagination to envision the difficulties that will come with an almost three-fold population increase in 30 years. Food and water supply, pressure on courts and other institutions of society, living space—problems in all these areas will be exacerbated. Whether we're in Arizona or elsewhere, we had better begin to think seriously about dealing with the situation that lies ahead.

Briefs About Some Capital Things

Not a Creature Was Stirring . . .

By Rowland Evans & Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—Despite a critical warning from Chief Justice Warren Burger delivered privately to President Ford that the "American judicial system" is endangered by massive early retirements because of a five-year salary freeze, the President and fearful congressional leaders agreed to postpone action until next year at the least.

That burying of what some politicians view as a national crisis extending far beyond Burger's judicial domain was probably inevitable, given the deepening recession and mounting unemployment.

It was President Ford himself who raised the matter behind the closed doors of his session with congressional leaders. After thrashing the highly-politicized issue from all its aspects, the congressional leaders left Mr. Ford with this message: if he would publicly ask Congress to unfreeze top-grade government career salaries, established when the cost of living was 42 per cent less than today, and promise not to veto any pay-raise bill passed by Congress, the combustible issue might be pushed in Congress next year after passage of anti-recession bills.

President Ford made no promise, fully aware that he is loaded down with too many political problems as it is to add the fury of voters over higher government pay at a time of national belt-tightening.

Yet, both Burger's warning and the deepening problem of resignations by top-level federal bureaucrats frozen at $36,000 a year, combined with critical recruitment gaps stemming from the pay freeze, are not taken lightly either inside the White House or on Capitol Hill.

Chief Justice Burger told Mr. Ford in his long White House talk late last month that seven federal judges had quit prematurely in the past 13 months, more than at any time in the last 100 years. The main reason: the five-year pay freeze had reduced their $40,000 salary to an effective level of $25,000.

First-rate U. S. attorneys, the bedrock of the criminal justice system, are becoming hard to recruit, the Chief Justice believes, because of vastly higher-paying law partnerships. Burger's warning: without higher salaries, already overburdened courts will dangerously decline in talent and production.

Inside Report

Burger Warns Ford

The salary problem is compounded by the Rube Goldberg system that pays regular cost-of-living allowances to retired federal employees but denies built-in escalation to the highest grade officials while they stay on the government payroll.

That explains the startling 50 per cent increase in top-level executive branch retirements since 1970. These are career bureaucrats who, in the words of Democratic Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming, chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, "kept this government running during the Watergate vacuum of power."

One case in point is the frozen $42,500 salary for the director of Management and Budget (OMB), the top management job in the vast federal bureaucracy. When the President decided to name Housing and Urban Development Secretary James Lynn to replace OMB director Roy Ash, Lynn's acceptance guaranteed him a 30 per cent cut in pay. The reason: Congress has always refused to give any presidential staff job a salary higher than its own.

Indeed, a quiet White House effort to raise the OMB director's salary to cabinet level ($60,000) when George Shultz resigned as Secretary of Labor to become OMB director in 1970 met disaster.

A bill quietly drafted inside OMB paired the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board ($42,000) with the director of OMB, raising both salaries to $60,000. Before the bill ever was sent to Congress, former White House aide Charles Colson inadvertently got wind of the secretly-drafted bill and used it as a club to attack Chairman Arthur Burns of the Fed for trying to raise his own salary. Burns was not even aware the bill had been drafted.

Berry's World

"You realize, of course, your spray can is doing the same thing to the ozone what your shotguns did to the passenger pigeon!"

Inefficient Examples of Big Business

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

WASHINGTON—Every week or so there's talk of another large firm in one kind of trouble or another. This has been going on since last summer's sweating it out over Westinghouse. In the state of frazzled tension that American business has been living in for so many months, some of these rumors turn out to be false, as may have been the case with the giant electrical equipment manufacturer, but this only underscores the fact that our serenity is gone.

More recently, Chrysler and the problems it's had selling routine short-term notes have been the subject of talk. In the past weeks, attention has also focused on W.T. Grant Co.

This huge chain, which does about $1.8 billion worth of business in 1,200 retail stores across the country, has seen its stock collapse from around $70 a share three years ago down to the two-buck range, while profits have evaporated to the point that in August there were no dividends for the company's unhappy owners.

Some of this is owing to the general disaster which is the current retailing industry. Did you ever think you'd live to see Sears, Roebuck coming on television with price cuts three weeks before Christmas? Consumers are frightened and tapped out. Many merchants, especially the automobile dealers, scooped up all the loose money last summer when they cannibalized their own future sales by shrieking, "BUY NOW! THE PRICES WILL BE HIGHER LATER!"

That doesn't explain all of W. T. Grant's problems, however. Grant has been accused of being a badly managed company. It's said the firm's big expansion program was so poorly conceived that Grant's debts now make up more than 80 per cent of what the company is worth.

Ordinarily, nobody but the stockholders and the creditors would care, except that Grant is a very, very large company providing 78,000 people with jobs. Thus the consequences of a failure may have induced a group of anks, headed by Morgan Guaranty, to come through with a recent loan for something like $600 million.

As is often the case when banks make loans which seem to defy prudence, the rumor is that it was done at the behest of the Federal Reserve Board. That cloud-wrapped agency never says when it is intervening in the private sector, but it's safe to conclude that, if it wasn't behind this otherwise puzzling loan, it has been busy doing that kind of thing. For example, it recently threw $250 million into the money markets to prop up the price of AT&T's last bond issue.

But hope do companies grow to such size? Many of them couldn't without an unseen helping hand from Washington in the form of tax concessions and the policies of agencies like the Federal Reserve that encourage the financing of bigness.

Our much remarked upon American fondness for the Big has long been noted, but our rationalizations for it haven't been so carefully challenged. The proposition that bigness brings economies of scale is accepted even though there is plenty of evidence to show it ain't necessarily so. Look at the catastrophes caused by the conglomerates we thought so much of 10 years ago.

One cardinal tenet of antitrust law enforcement has been that bigness should not be punished for its own sake. True, bigness is frequently inefficient and uneconomical to the degree that it forces government into a variety of inflationary and destructive rescue operations.

Developments Have Not Been All Bad

Mideast Factions in Urgent Peace Calls Amid Talk of War

Offsetting gloomy predictions that another Mideast war may be only about six months away is the fact that both sides are interspersing their war talk with urgent calls for peace.

With atomic weapons in the background and whole cities within range of missiles it is to be hoped their sincerity is a match for their words.

In Cairo and in Tel Aviv Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin on the same day used almost identical words to express their continuing hopes for the success of U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's step-by-step peace offensive.

Declared Sadat: "The momentum for peace should continue" (if both sides want to avoid the explosion of a new conflict).

Said Rabin: "It is our firm conviction that the momentum of the peacemaking process must be maintained, however impaired it was by recent developments."

Sadat has declared differences with Israel cannot be settled by war.

Israel has said Israel will not be the one to start a preventive war.

Both sides place a heavy burden upon Kissinger, the only man so far to have established trust by both.

The "recent development" of which Rabin spoke has not been encouraging to the Israelis. They include the new recognition accorded Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), the rebuffs suffered by Israel at the hands of the United Nations and the continuing threat of a renewed Arab oil embargo.

On the other hand, developments have not been all bad.

Kissinger Is Hopeful on Cyprus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has convinced key congressmen that he is on the verge of significant progress on a Cyprus peace settlement, but his aides are tight-lipped on the hoped-for course of events.

Kissinger's cautious optimism, reported by State Department officials and several representatives and senators, grows out of a series of developments during the last several weeks:

—Kissinger's lengthy consultations last week in Brussels during the NATO foreign ministers' council with Turkish Foreign Minister Melih Esenbal and Greek Foreign Minister Dimitrios Bitsios.

—Indications that the caretaker government of Turkish Prime Minister Sadi Irmak has concluded that it will have to deal with the continuing international pressure to reach a political solution over its invasion of Cyprus.

—Some progress in talks

The Soviet Union is said to have warned Arafat that the PLO cannot replace Israel with a secular Palestinian state.

Britain, France and Italy, speaking for the nine members of the European Common Market, have come out in the between Glafkos Clerides, who has been acting president of Cyprus, and Rauf Denktash, vice president and leader of the Turkish Cypriots.

On the basis of these developments, and possibly other undisclosed assurances, Kissinger convinced key members of the House to soften their objections to continuing U.S. military aid to Turkey at least until Feb. 5.

Reps. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., John Brademas, D-Ind., and Paul

Sarbanes, D-Md., who have spearheaded a movement to cut off military aid to Ankara immediately, announced Tuesday they would compromise and accept the Feb. 5 deadline.

Accordingly, the way was paved for Senate-House conferees to agree on a compromise $2.7 billion foreign aid bill which would allow military aid to continue to Turkey until Feb. 5.

The Senate promptly approved the package 49-41. The compromise is still pending in the House.

United Nations for international guarantees of Israel borders.

Egypt, while demanding territorial concessions the Israelis will not accept, has recognized the reality of Israel as an independent Mideast state.

Time is the all-important ingredient.

For the Israelis, a political settlement is of the greatest importance and for it they are willing to surrender some territory.

But the Israeli leadership itself has mentioned a six months deadline in which talk can turn to war.

As for Sadat, on last June 6 he promised his troops that all Arab territory occupied by Israel seven years earlier would be "liberated" by June 6, 1975.

Important to both sides is how any settlement is to be described.

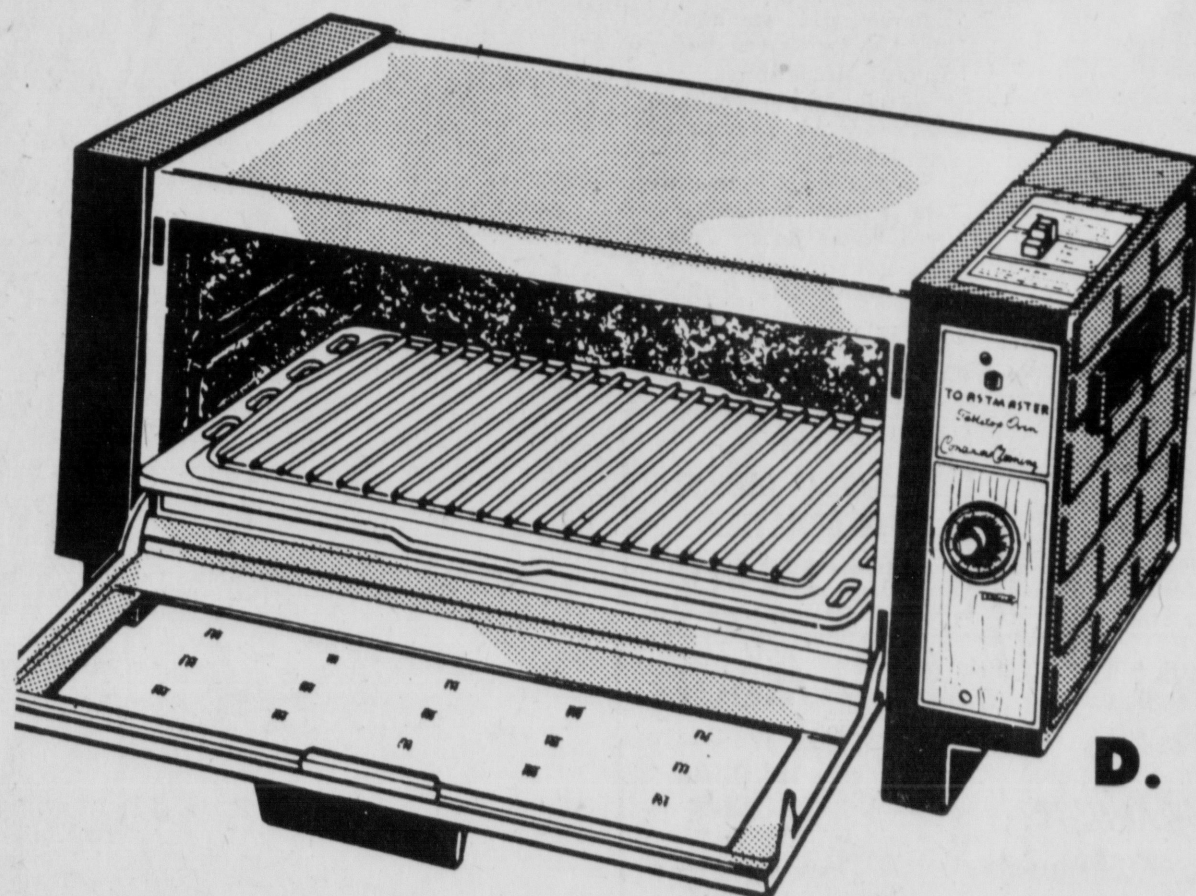

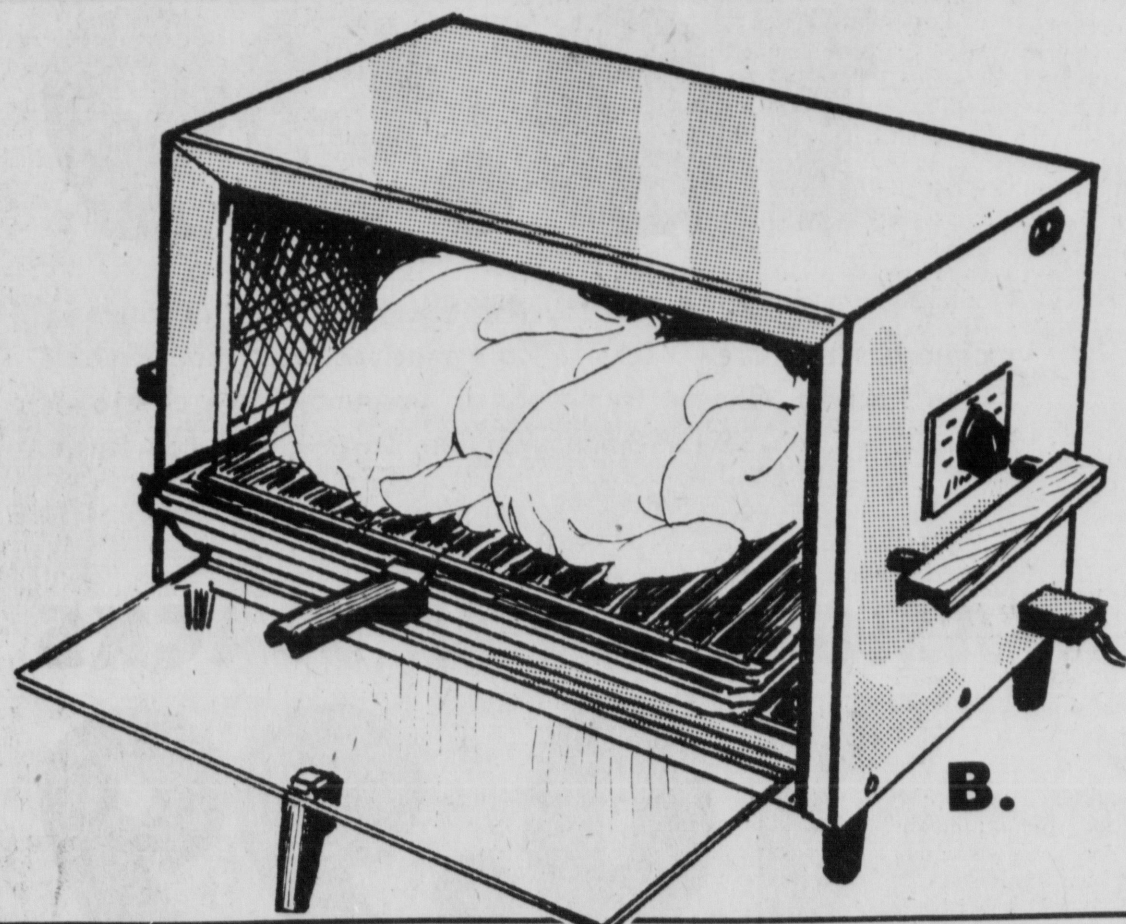

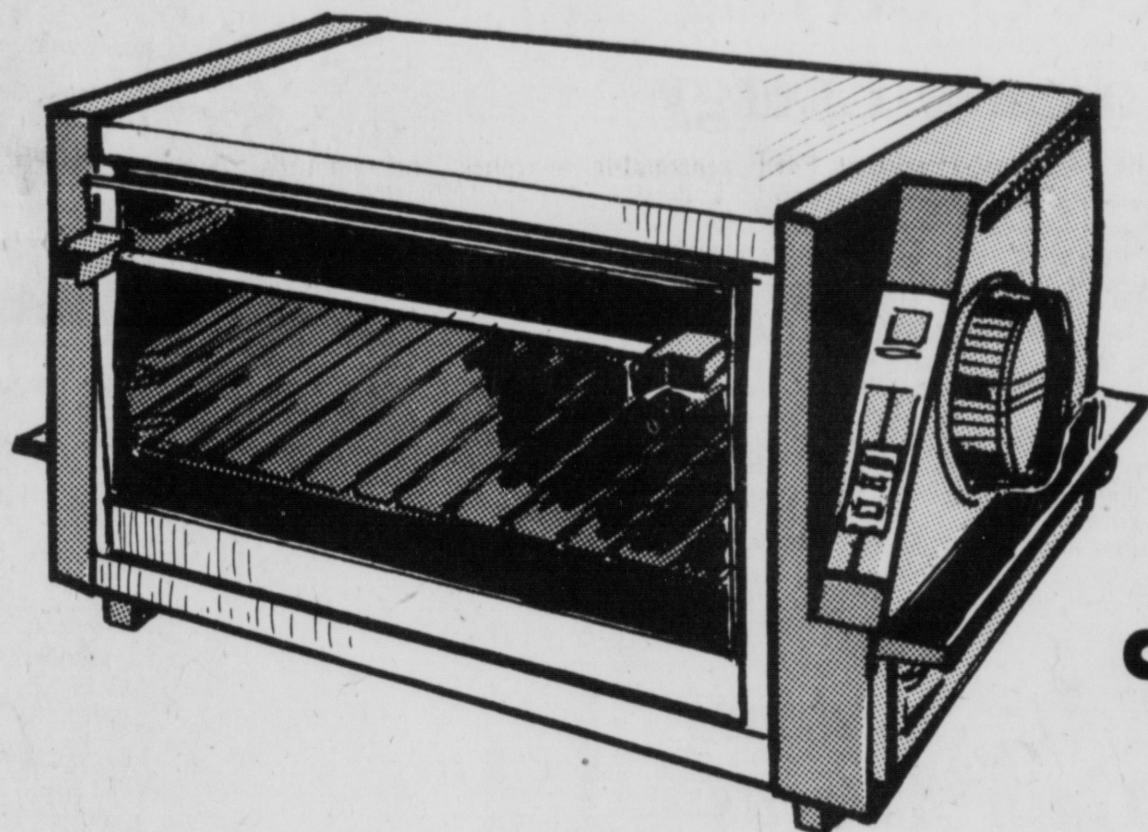

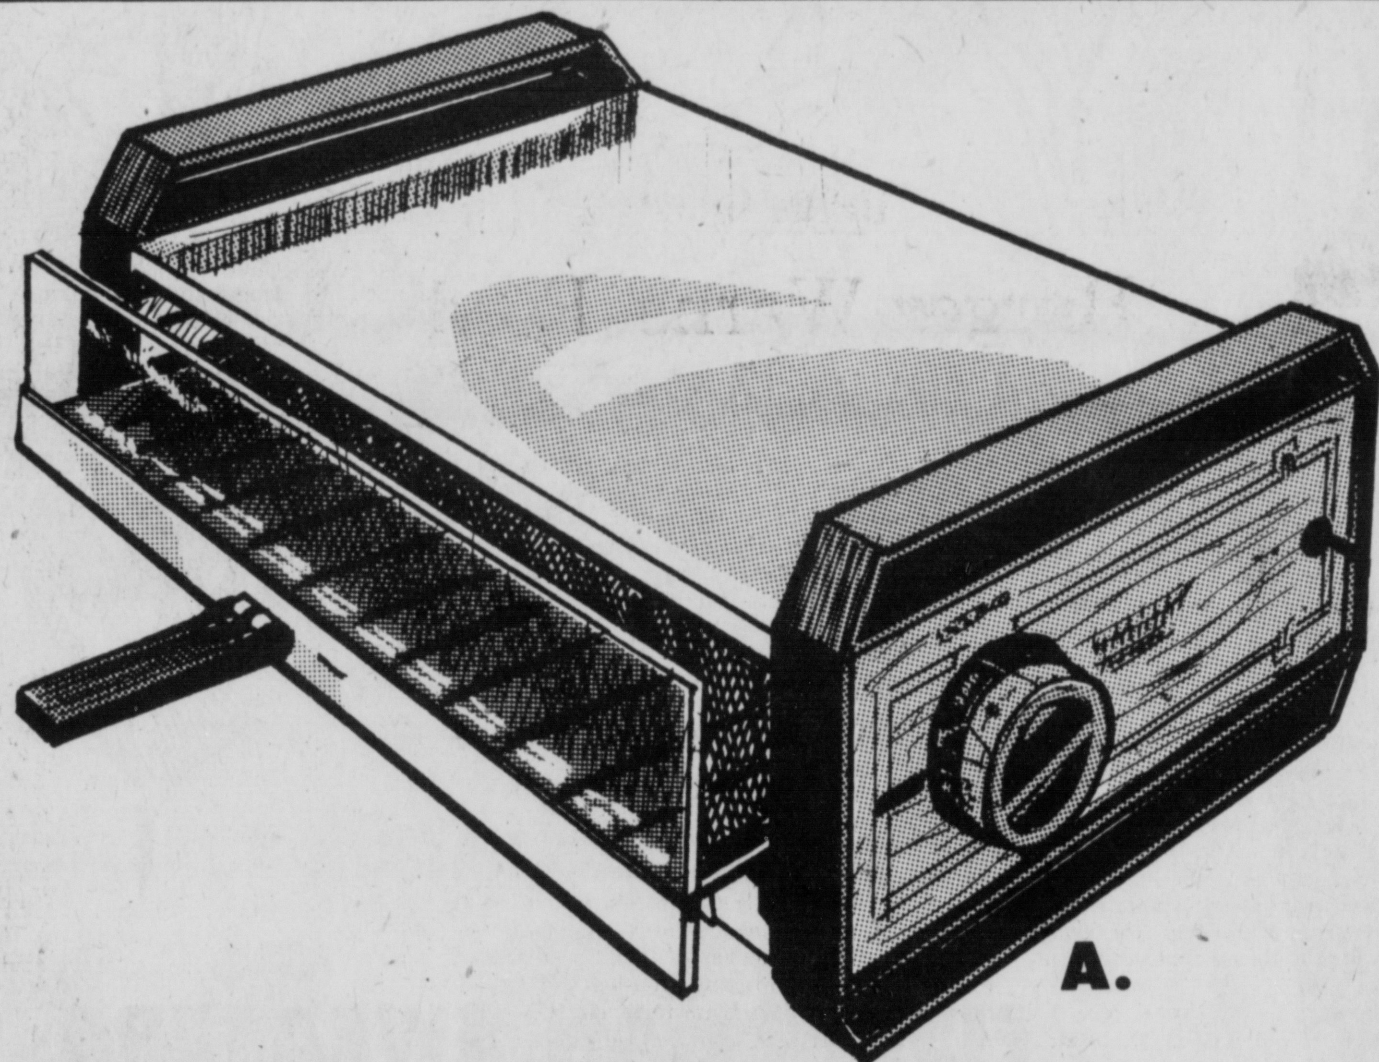

The Israelis want some kind of a nonbelligerency pledge from Egypt and a promise that Israeli goods will be permitted through the Suez Canal.

For Sadat's position among the Arabs it is important that he be able to call any agreement a withdrawal by the Israelis, avoiding the appearance of political concessions.

Unless Kissinger's momentum toward Mideast peace can be re-established, Sadat has threatened to agree to Russia's call for resumption of peace talks at Geneva—a step the United States regards as futile and dangerous.

Blueprint Course Slated at Ulster

STONE RIDGE

Many persons find a need to become proficient in blueprint reading, and an evening course in this subject has drawn many community residents to the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College (UCCC).

Blueprint Reading, offered by the Department of Engineering Technologies at UCCC will be given in the spring semester on Monday nights, starting Feb. 3. The instructor will be George Jerkowski, an IBM designer.

Professor Walter Hopkins, chairman of the Department of Engineering Technologies, says the course in the past has proved popular with a wide variety of persons, especially those in the building trades.

The course does not emphasize drafting skills. Rather it seeks to train participants to understand and interpret what others have put in drawings. Covered are all types of blueprints, including machine parts and building trade specifications.

Among those who have profited from the course in the past have been bricklayers, carpenters, plumbers and electricians.

UCCC Trying To Save Energy

STONE RIDGE

Ulster County Community College will close down a portion of its facilities on the Stone Ridge Campus during the Christmas holiday and during the month of January in an effort to help conserve energy and reduce operating costs.

The Fall semester will officially end on Dec. 20 and the January intersession will not begin until Thursday, Jan. 2. The Spring semester will begin Jan. 30.

The college plans to close down the Hasbrouck and Algonquin Buildings and will close portions of other buildings.

President Robert T. Brown said staff members have been most cooperative in working with the college administration to help conserve energy.

Thermostats in all college buildings have been lowered to 68 degrees during the week and to 55 degrees on weekends when they are not in use. Outside lighting also has been reduced.

Holiday Party

ULSTER PARK
Members of Chapter 975, American Association of Retired Persons, ushered in the Christmas season with their third annual Christmas dinner at the Hedges Restaurant.

Despite snowy roads, 56 of the 61 persons who had made reservations showed up. Special guests included Charles Tanner, former president of the Dutchess County Chapter, and several members of that chapter.

Following a dinner with a choice of roast beef or chicken, members were entertained by accordionist Dorothy Galani, who furnished music for dancing and a sing-along.

Members of the chapter have been invited to take part in a special preview of the new Shop-Rite Store in New Paltz on Jan. 6. The store opens to the public the following day.

Marian Turck has been named chairwoman for the annual New Year's Day dinner and is taking reservations.

tions. Details, including a time and place, will be announced later.

Chapter members will take part in a two-part defensive driving course on Feb. 20 and 27. Reservations may be made with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schwedner of Tillson, certified driving instructors who will conduct the course. The schedule for both days includes instruction from 10 a.m. to noon, lunch, and instruction from 1-3 p.m.

The course will be conducted at the chapter's meeting place at VFW Post 8645 on Route 208, New Paltz. The course is for experienced drivers and does not involve driving or written tests.

Joseph and Elsie Lorenzo, past and current chapter presidents, left for Florida shortly after the dinner and will return March 17.

Mrs. Helen Ljungquist, publicity chairman, is confined to Room 306, Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill, following an automobile accident. She has been visited by several chapter members and is reportedly well on the road to recovery.

A student homecoming Sabbath service will be held Friday, Dec. 27. Students home on vacation from college are especially encouraged to attend.

Petite Agent Shoots Suspected Drug King

CHICAGO (UPI) — A female undercover agent Wednesday shot the suspected leader of a major drug ring as he was threatening to kill another agent, officials said.

John J. Hinchey, director of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group, a secret anti-drug unit, declined to identify the female agent but described her as "very young and quite petite."

He said she was lying bloodied on the floor after being thrown through a glass bookcase when she shot the suspect, who was reported in fair condition today at Northwest Community Hospital with two bullet wounds.

The wounded suspect and his son were captured but the son's wife escaped.

The alleged ringleader, Larry Siebert, 42, later was charged with attempted murder and sale of cocaine.

His son, Dean, 20, was charged with sale of a controlled substance.

Hinchey said the two agents were in an apartment owned by Dean Siebert and his wife, Carol, 20, to buy two ounces of high grade cocaine for $2,800 early Wednesday.

During the transaction, the Sieberts spotted on closed circuit television nine other agents entering the building.

"They turned on the two undercover agents," Hinchey said, "hurled the female agent through a glass shelved bookcase and onto the floor and tackled and disarmed the male agent."

"Larry Siebert stood over the male agent and threatened to shoot him in the head. The female agent was lying on the floor bleeding from the cuts she got from the glass and she shot him twice."

OLD CITY HALL

'Informal Bids' for Roofing on Old City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
The Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council will open "informal bids" on Dec. 23 for temporary roofing of the old city hall at 408 Broadway, the first significant step the city has made since it moved out 25 months ago to protect the building from the elements. Help, even belatedly, could be coming too late for a building that has been exposed to the elements for two winters and part of a third and whose interior is in an advanced state of deterioration.

The revelation that the Common Council is finally doing something to protect the building—other than boarding up some of the windows—comes on the heels of an announcement by the Friends of Historic Kingston that they are willing to donate $800 toward the temporary repair of the roof.

In fact, the Building and Supply Committee chaired by Alderman Emilio A. Primo Jr. (D-Eighth Ward), began soliciting estimates for the roof repair before the historic group wrote the mayor on Dec. 6. The impetus for the Council committee was a meeting between the mayor and members of a special committee of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers) last September. Cost estimates for temporary roofing then ran to about $1,500.

In a press release earlier this week, Edwin M. Ford, president of Friends for Historic Kingston and George V. Hutton, chairman of its Preservation Commission, announced that they had written Mayor Francis R. Koenig with the offer of $800 from the organization's own funds for the repair of the roof.

Referring to a letter of Dec. 6 to Koenig, Hutton and Ford wrote, "the city government's attention was directed to the advanced state of deterioration of the building's roofing and the consequent severe damage to the interior of the building."

"It was pointed out in the letter that the building is a publicly-owned asset that is being wasted and that this rapidly accelerating damage is greatly increasing the cost of rehabilitating this structure," the press release stated.

The organization also suggested that Mayor Koenig appropriate funds under the Better Community Act of 1974 (the new revenue sharing which replaces urban renewal and other categorical programs) and use the money to rehabilitate the old city hall.

Koenig was non-committal on either proposal—the offer of $800 or the application for funds under the Better Community Act—preferring to wait until after the 23rd for the outcome of bid openings on the roof.

The bids are described as "informal" because certain legal requirements where not adhered to, such as advertising in the newspaper ten days prior to opening. However, it is understood that the aldermen are interested more in getting an estimate of the cost at this time rather than actually carrying out the work.

In any event, bids would need the final approval of the chief executive, and Mayor Koenig says he still hasn't changed his basic position of not putting any money into the old building. "I still think we should have a tenant committed before we commit any money to repairs of the building," Koenig said, adding that he would consider temporary repairs to make the building weather tight, depending on the cost.

Teachers Contract Is Ratified

KYSERIKE

The Rondout Valley Board of Education formally ratified its new two-year contract with the Rondout Valley Teachers Association Tuesday, ending 11 months of offers and counter-proposals that, at one point, sharply divided the two sides.

The contract agreement, reached with the help of a PERB factfinder, gives the teachers an approximate nine per cent wage increase for the 1974-75 school year, and an additional seven per cent for 1975-76.

The previous contract with the teachers expired June 30. With ratification now complete on both sides, teachers have begun to receive retroactive benefits effective from that date.

Board members Horace Sarr and Charles Ludlow voted against ratification.

In other significant action Tuesday night, the board called on Ulster County BOCES to hold a county-wide referendum before continuing with plans to rent the former Barclay Knitwear building in Port Ewen, and heard Superintendent of Schools Robert Robertaccio announce his retirement at the end of the current school year.

At November's meeting, the school board gave its endorsement to a BOCES proposal to rent the Barclay building in Port Ewen, instead of constructing a new building at some other site. On Tuesday, the board recommended that BOCES seek public approval for such plans through a taxpayer's referendum.

Robertaccio's retirement will become effective June 30, 1975. He gave no particular reason for the decision, but indicated that he and his wife intend to retire to the south. Robertaccio has been superintendent of schools since 1968.

In other matters, the Board:

- Told an aggregation of senior citizens that it still has not made a decision on their request to raise from $5,000 to $6,500 the maximum income under which senior citizens can be eligible for a 50 per cent tax exemption. It is expected, however, that such a decision will be made before July 1.

- Voted to increase non-resident tuition fees for 1974-75 by an average of $68 per child in grades K-12.

- Approved the donation of obsolete and discarded books from the Accord school to the Fraser School in Minneapolis, Minn., a facility for retarded children.

- Granted tenure to Mrs. Ann Zaccaro, a second grade teacher at the Rosendale School, effective April 2.

- Appointed Mrs. Helen Clark and Mrs. Genevieve Haas to the Food Service program.

New Zoning Board in Rosendale

By CARL GRAHAM

ROSENDALE

The Village of Rosendale has a brand new zoning board of appeals.

Mayor Robert Sheehan announced at Wednesday night's village board meeting that he was appointing Harold Van Kleek, Perte Matthews, and Raymond Ritter to the three-member board. They replace Anthony Wade, George Moylan, and Dr. Walter Polowitz, whose resignations were announced at the November meeting.

The new appointments were made in compliance with changes suggested by Village Attorney Francis Murray. Appointments were previously made by the entire board on a yearly basis, incorrectly according to Murray, who noted that members must be appointed by the mayor for three-year terms. In line with his recommendation for a staggered system of appointments to bring up one vacancy each year, Sheehan named Van Kleek chairman to serve a three-year term, Matthews to serve a two-year term, and Ritter to serve for one year.

The board also set up a schedule of rules and regulations concerning availability of village records to the public under the recently enacted Freedom of Information Law. Records will be available at the village clerk's office Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2-4 p.m. and Monday from 7-8 p.m.

Copies will be furnished on request at $1 per page, with police accident reports available at $4 each.

The board heard several complaints about overnight parking on village streets. William Guldry, proprietor of "The Well," said that customers in his tavern were being ticketed while others who parked for even longer periods of time were not ticketed. He said a pickup truck had not been ticketed although it remained near his place for several hours on the night of Dec. 8.

Although asked to by Sheehan, Guldry declined to identify the driver of the truck and also declined to say if it was a village-owned vehicle.

Several other persons registered complaints about tickets, issued under the village's snow removal ordinance. Sheehan said that the ordinance had been in effect for several years but was never enforced until two years ago, and that the effect on Main Street was "chaos." Several persons presented a petition protesting against the state ban on Main Street parking between Cooper's law office and the Astoria Hotel. They said if it is enforced assessments should be lowered to compensate residents of the area for "the damage and hardships it will bring upon us."

If Santa plans on using the community Christmas tree as a navigational aid, he might not make Rosendale at all Christmas night. Sheehan reported that the lights on the tree, installed Friday night, had been partially stolen that same night and that thieves had completed the job Sunday night. Sheehan said he had bought replacement lights from his own pocket and that they would be installed Thursday.

Sheehan reported that the parking lot at Hardenburgh Lane in back of the canal has been cleaned out and is in operation. Lights will be installed within a few days, he said.

Once You've Got the Gifts, They Need Wrapping

The students at Saugerties High School, for the second year, have been collecting gifts and donations for the about 250 Ulster County patients in Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie. The drive, with the support of the community enlisted this year, continue through Friday. Greg Leard (left), Judy Geskie and

Appointments By Carey

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. elect Hugh L. Carey has named New York City Deputy Mayor Judah Gribetz as counsel and David Burke, former vice president of the Dreyfus Corp., as secretary, filling the two highest ranking posts in his administration.

After a week of speculation in City Hall, Carey made the announcement yesterday that Gribetz, one of Mayor Beame's top aides, was leaving to take a post with the new state administration. It was not immediately known how much Burke and the 45-year-old Gribetz, who earns $48,700 as deputy mayor, would earn in their new positions.

In his announcement, Carey said, "Mr. Gribetz brings to this office an extensive knowledge and experience in all aspects of government and the law."

Beame, for whom the appointment signifies the first high-ranking official to leave his administration, also praised Gribetz as a man who "has shown the courage, tenacity, intelligence, honesty and loyalty that exemplifies the best in public service," and added, "I will miss Judah very much."

Carey said the 38-year-old Burke, who served for six years as administrative assistant to Sen. Edward Kennedy before joining the Dreyfus Corp., "brings to government a broad range of experience, combined with an exceptional administrative talent for getting things done."

Meanwhile, in Albany, sources close to Carey said Harry J. O'Donnell, Gov. Wilson's press secretary and a top operative in Republican political circles for two decades, has been recommended as Carey's director of communications.

O'Donnell, whose salary as press secretary is in the $40,000-a-year level, would not reveal his plans beyond Dec. 31 when Wilson steps down, but said "several things are under consideration."

O'Donnell, 59, has held a succession of prominent positions with various Republican officials, going back to serving as executive assistant to the late Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

There also were reports that Carey would retain Raymond T. Schuler of Schenectady as transportation commissioner and was considering asking Louis Levine to stay on as industrial commissioner. Schuler, an enrolled Democrat, and Levine both were appointed to their offices by former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

In addition, Carey has been expected to appoint Mario Cuomo, a Queens lawyer and an unsuccessful candidate for the lieutenant governor nomination in the Sept. 10 primary, as secretary of state.

Bank Robber Is Sought

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — Police in the Orange County area today were seeking a gunman who robbed a bank in this Orange County city of $5,700 Wednesday and seized a young woman hostage for 10 minutes before making his escape.

The thief, reportedly wearing a red shirt, red tie and black raincoat, entered the Orange County Trust bank branch, pulled out a gun and demanded money, police said.

After getting the money, he seized the woman, who was not identified, and left the bank. She was released unharmed about 10 minutes later.

Police at first thought the gunman had boarded a bus to New York City and notified state police who stopped the bus near Monroe, but failed to find the suspect.

Police later said they had tentative information that someone matching the suspect's description may have left Middletown in a light brown Mustang automobile.

'Retain Catskill Mountain Branch Line'... Pattern Urges

POUGHKEEPSIE

Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress has recommended to the U. S. Rail Services Planning Agency that the Catskill Mountain Branch Line be retained as a part of the Northeast region rail network, and that priority also be given to upgrading and maintaining rail service along the Wallkill Valley Branch.

Both the Catskill Mountain and Wallkill Valley branch lines face the prospect of abandonment under the 1974 rail reorganization act. A preliminary decision on whether the two local rail lines will be included in the Northeast network is expected in early 1975.

Pattern urged that any abandonment decision not be based solely on profitability considerations.

Referring specifically to the Catskill Mountain branch, Pattern stated, "While the continued operation of the line may be difficult to justify in pure economic terms, the route should not be abandoned, we feel, without suitable alternative provisions made to serve existing users..."

Instead of outright abandonment, Pattern suggested that public and private subsidies be arranged "so that the most economically viable segment might still be preserved with tie-ins to other rail systems near the western terminus."

Pattern's suggestion that it might make economic sense to connect the Catskill Mountain branch to other rail lines at the western terminus near Oneonta, instead of the existing connection to the West Shore Division at Kingston, is apparently based on the fact that most of the line's business comes from customers in Delaware County, and that there are very few customers between Kingston and Margaretville.

Regardless of what the U. S. Rail Services Planning Office finally decides, it is almost certain that efforts will be continued on other fronts to preserve the entire existing length of the Catskill Mountain branch. The Catskill Mountain Transportation Corp. has expressed an interest in buying the line from Penn Central; The New York State Department of Transportation has already guaranteed that funds from the recently-approved bond issue will be used to continue service along the branch.

Pattern also pointed out the Wallkill Valley branch line, which runs from Kingston to Campbell Hall in Orange County, has a significant number of users and is located in a corridor that is expected to experience major development and growth in future years. Pattern urged that the line be preserved.

And, the regional planning agency also recommended that priority be given to repairing the Poughkeepsie Railroad Bridge, which was severely damaged by fire last year, and to maintaining service on the Harlem Valley line in Northern Dutchess.

Area JA Sales Start

KINGSTON
Kingston area Junior Achievement (JA) companies have announced the start of their Christmas sales. The sales will be made door to door and in group sales in various shopping centers and in some area high schools.

The JA companies, their sponsors, and the items they will be selling this Christmas are:

★ JATROL, sponsored by Hucktol Inc., selling terrariums.

★ Sunrise Products, sponsored by IBM, wall plaques.

★ Bumpko, sponsored by Ferroxcube, beer mugs.

★ Natural Arts, sponsored by Rotron, Christmas tree ornaments and auto trunk ties.

★ Unity Products, sponsored by Channel Master, name plates for mailboxes.

There two other Kingston-based JA companies which work as service companies. Bundles and Trinkets, sponsored by Bankers Trust is the banking company for all the other JA companies; however it is also going to produce a yearbook for late spring sale.

JABS, sponsored by WGHQ Radio Station, has produced a half-hour program entitled, "The Osmond Brothers" which was aired over WGHQ recently, and future plans call for another program based on current rock artists.

Memorabilia Explored

Hurley Lions Club heard guest speakers at its recent meeting in the Holiday Inn. Taking part in the program were Joseph Petras (L), deputy district governor of Lions Zone 20-0; Tony Sarv, vice president of the club, and George A. Miller, a former president of the club who talked on memorabilia of the early 1900's.

No-Smoking Law Dragnet a Bust

NEW YORK (UPI) — The city's tough new no-smoking law went into effect Monday, but agents sent in search of offenders came back empty handed. The dragnet was a bust.

The law bans tobacco smoking in elevators, supermarkets, college classrooms, religious and recreational facilities. It went on the books Nov. 1, but violators have been issued only warnings until Monday. The maximum punishment now is a $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

Health Commissioner Dr. Lowell E. Bellin, followed by aides, "Public Health Sanitarians" and newsmen, three times entered supermarkets and boldly marched up and down the aisles seeking scofflaws.

At the first supermarket, Sloan's, on Manhattan's Upper East Side, Bellin and his entourage found hardly any shoppers, much less any smoking shopper. "Well, let's go on to number two, maybe we'll be lucky," he said.

At the second market, Grisede's, in the same general neighborhood, the small army of health officials, newsmen and jangling TV crews again failed to find a smoker.

"Guess the rain kept many people home," Bellin said. "Maybe people don't like to smoke in supermarkets," someone in the group said.

At the third store, again no luck. Resigned to the fact that his crackdown had failed, Bellin told newsmen, "We'd be happy if we never had to give out a summons ... but I'm sure we will, sooner or later."

Breaking the no-smoking law is a Class 'A' misdemeanor, a category which also covers such crimes as endangering the welfare of a minor and possession of certain weapons.

Bellin said he hardly expected any judge to levy the maximum punishment, but he said, "The embarrassment of being brought before a judge should be enough to stop people from blowing smoke in other people's faces."

Aussies Were Guinea Pigs

CANBERRA (UPI) — Australian artillery guns fired shells filled with poison gas over the trenches. Down below, Australian soldiers stripped under orders so scientists could test the effects of the gas.

The government admitted this week that Australian soldiers were used as guinea pigs to test poison gas during World War II and offered compensation to servicemen who took part.

John Wheelon, federal minister for repatriation and compensation, said "various experiments with mustard and other gases did in fact take place during the 1939-1945 war."

He said "many of these experiments have now been documented" in a recent book accusing the government of using Australian soldiers to test poison gas.

William Soper, a former warrant officer, said in the book that he took part in secret tests with 1,000 soldiers in eastern Australia during the war.

Soper complained that the government refused to give him compensation for injuries during the experiments or even admit the tests took place.

Wheelon said veterans who participated in the gas experiments and have a condition due to, or aggravated by, the experiments can claim compensation.

Soper's book, "Australia in the War of 1939-45—the Role of Science and Industry," said commanders ordered soldiers to line up in trenches while field guns fired poison gas into the area from three miles away.

The book said the men were then ordered to strip down to their underwear so scientists could gauge the effects of the gas.

Soper quoted Prof. Donald P. Mellor, former president of the Royal Society of New South Wales, as saying the secret unit was set up near the coastal town of Innisfail by the government's Chemical Defense Board.

"For most of the Innisfail trials, the volunteers were hardened infantry men, thoroughly experienced in the techniques of jungle warfare," Mellor said. "The morale of the men was outstanding."

He said "many of them suffered severe and painful injuries in the earlier experiments," but were forced to "continue operational duties under front line conditions so the physiologists could discover fully the effect."

The "Yes" Bank comes to Kingston.

If you get Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge at our new Kingston Branch, we'll say "Yes" to a free checking account and a free safe deposit box.*

Chemical Bank Hudson Valley, N.A. is pleased to announce the grand opening of a new branch in Kingston. We're so pleased, in fact, that we're giving away a free checking account and a free safe deposit box* for one year to every customer who applies for and receives Chemical No-Bounce Privilege Checking or a Chemical Master Charge card.

And we'll say "yes" to both No-Bounce Checking and a ChemBank Master Charge as long as you're over eighteen, steadily employed, earn at least a hundred dollars a week and won't be in over your head.

No-Bounce Checking. Chemical's No-Bounce Privilege Checking says "yes" when your checkbook says "no." So you can write checks for more than your balance. It's even a way to write yourself a loan.

And Chemical checking accounts include "simplified statements," which list your checks in the order you write them.

ChemBank Master Charge. It's good for a "yes" at stores, restaurants and hotels anyplace. And you can borrow cash at any Master Charge bank, anywhere in the world.

We want to say "Yes" when you want to borrow money. With the holidays coming up, find out how fast we'll say "yes" to a holiday loan or any other kind of loan. And it's just as easy to get a "yes" for a loan as it is for No-Bounce Checking or a ChemBank Master Charge card.

So stop in at our new branch and say hello to manager John Ledwith. Our celebration extends to Friday, December 27. We're open 9 A.M. to 3 P.M., Monday through Thursday, with our drive-in window open 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. On Fridays, our hours are 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. and 5:30 P.M. to 7 P.M., with our drive-in window open from 9 A.M. to 7 P.M.

854th Engineers Make It a Better Yule

Captain Leonard Gower of the Kingston Salvation Army accepts one of the turkeys and other foodstuffs from Specialist Fourth Class Theresa Cooper of the 854th Engineers Battalion. Others in photo are First Lieutenant John Edwards and Specialist Fourth Class Linda Carpino. The foodstuffs will be distributed by the Salvation Army to four needy families of the area.

Operation Santa By Engineers

KINGSTON

Members of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 854th Engineer Battalion (Construction), located at the SSG Dietz U.S. Army Reserve Center, Flatbush Avenue, donated a large quantity of toys and enough cash to pay for Christmas dinners for four needy families.

The toys and food (consisting of the traditional turkeys and other foodstuffs) were turned over to the local Salvation Army for distribution to four local families selected from their list of needy persons.

The toys and money were donated by the members of the Reserve unit at their regular meetings. The Headquarters Company commander, First Lieutenant John A. Edwards, speaking on behalf of his unit, said "the members of the unit just wanted to bring a bit of Christmas cheer to needy children and their families this year." He also commented that he hoped such a fine spirit would prevail throughout the year and the donations would be an annual "operation."

Downtown Yule Shopping...Late and Disappointing

NEW YORK (UPI) — With November retail sales below year-ago levels for the third successive month, the majority of the nation's retailers are resigned to the poorest Christmas shopping season in many years.

But some businesses that depend heavily on Christmas sales — greeting cards, liquors, musical tapes and records and even toys — apparently will do well.

The discount department stores with their big highway parking lots that can attract swarms of last minute Yule shoppers are in general more optimistic in their outlook than downtown retailers, according to the trade paper, Discount Store News.

Except in cities like Wichita, Dallas, Kansas City, Rochester and others that have been little touched by the recession, the downtown Yule shopping season this year is late and disappointing.

Typically, downtown stores do 20 per cent of their year's volume during the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas in a good year. So things have been tense since late November for the mass merchandisers with downtown outlets.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics on Nov. 21 said Americans would have to cut their Yule shopping outlays this year or else dig deeply into their savings in order to offset the impact of simultaneous recession and 12 per cent inflation.

The problem is several million Americans who have been laid off from their jobs have had to dig into savings this autumn just to pay the rent and keep food on the table; even some employed people are having to do that. How much will they have available for Christmas?

The net outflows in savings deposits reported in most of the second half of 1974 by mutual savings banks and savings and loan associations aren't an encouraging answer to that question. However, Christmas Savings Clubs deposits are up $400 million over last year to about $3.75 billion. The gain is 12 per cent, almost exactly the amount of the year's inflation of money.

Moreover, 45 per cent of the banks that sponsor Christmas Savings Clubs paid interest on the deposits this year. This is a new trend that started in 1971. The average club member will draw about $205 this Christmas from his savings plan, up from $182 last year.

Another source of Christmas funds this year is trading stamps. Lawrence L. Crane, Jr., of Memphis, Chairman of the Trading Stamp Institute of America, said exchanging trading stamps for Yule gifts ranging from pillowcases to TV receivers will jump enormously this year. He said his own firm, Quality Stamp Co., expected a 30 per cent spurt in Christmas season redemptions.

In grandfather's day, toys comprised by far the biggest single share of Christmas gift sales. They still are important and the Toy Manufacturers of America, Inc., reported early in November manufacturers' shipments of toys, games and Christmas decorations in the first nine months of 1974, were up 12.5 per cent to $2.157 billion, just keeping pace with the inflation of money. This is not a satisfactory performance from the industry's point of view. However, it reflects the judgment of retail buyers and indicates they expect toy sales to be about as good as those of last Christmas.

Sales of toys for adults and adolescents, expensive model railroads and other hobbycraft, seem to be doing much better than toys for children. For example, Consolidated Foods Corp.'s Tyco Industries division at Woodbury Heights, N.J., said that, having sold a huge volume of model electric trains for this season, it is now working full blast on expected orders for Christmas 1975. Reports from retailers also indicate adult toy sales this Christmas will be the best in history, the company said, with industry sales of model electric trains and accessories for all of 1974 up 50 per cent from 1973 to $230 million.

Sales of Christmas trees are expected to hit $375 million, with the big increase, 10 to 15 per cent, on artificial trees, which will account for $100 million of the total. Sales of natural trees will be up about 1/2 per cent in units, more in money.

Christmas card sales are expected to set a record as they always do when times are hard, agreed American Greeting Card Corp., Gibson Greeting Cards and Hallmark Cards. Wholesale volume will be up about 15 per cent. However, large mailings of business Christmas cards will be down, Continental Illinois Bank, Chicago, discovered in a poll of several hundred firms. Rust Craft Greeting Cards, Inc., reached the same conclusion on the basis of its own survey.

Artistry Comes To the Mall

TOWN OF ULSTER
Mammoth Mall has been sporting a new look these past few weeks, thanks to some creative artists and craftsmen from the Woodstock area.

Their displays of handcrafted items will continue through Saturday in Mammoth Mall's community room. All of the items at the exhibit can be purchased by holiday shoppers.

The display includes a large selection of water colors, candles, handcrafted jewelry, pottery, air brush paintings and mushroom etchings. And many of the artists do their work in the display area, demonstrating and explaining their various techniques and creations to interested shoppers.

The exhibit is coordinated by Nina Graboi of Woodstock; space in the community room was provided by the Mammoth Mall Merchants Association.

Another craftsman appearing at the Mall will be Lee Myczkowski, a highly accomplished watercolorist, who will demonstrate his unusual craft of mushroom etching. This technique is very much like scrimshaw scratching, except that Myczkowski does it on natural growths that are peeled off the bark of trees.

Shoppers at the Mall will get an added treat Friday and Saturday, when Steven Gottlieb, director of the "Puppetree Children's Theatre," will bring his show to the Mall. The puppet show will start at 11 a.m. Friday and Saturday and continue throughout the day. A small admission fee will be charged.

New Date In Court For Boston

BOSTON (UPI) — Three members of the city School Committee escaped criminal contempt of court charges for ignoring school desegregation orders Wednesday in a U.S. District Court hearing held while rowdy demonstrators protested outside.

The committee members will learn at a Dec. 27 hearing whether their intransigent opposition to court-ordered school desegregation will lead to civil contempt charges.

In addition, they will find out whether their nine-year string of "no" votes on forced busing will lead to their removal from participating in school desegregation efforts.

U.S. District Judge W.

Arthur Garrity Wednesday denied an NAACP motion that Committee Chairman John J. Kerrigan and members John J. McDonough and Paul Ellison be charged with criminal contempt.

The charges came after the committee's 3-2 vote Monday defying a court order to deliver a total desegregation plan for 1975 effecting all 200 public schools and calling for the busing of as many as 35,000 students.

The judge said it was adequate that an attorney delivered the plan to the court anyway.

Federal police forcibly removed about 100 angry, booing white anti-busing demonstrators from in front of Garrity's courtroom.

Garrity set out three criteria for the three members to meet or risk removal of the entire committee from further participation school desegregation efforts:

— "What affirmative steps, if any, will you take to promulgate implementation of the state court plan currently in effect?"

— "Will you vote at a school committee meeting to approve the 14 point timetable carrying out school desegregation under the (John) Coakley plan?"

— "Will you implement future orders of the court?"

Gotham Plan Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department Wednesday rejected as illegal a New York City plan to save money by retiring hundreds of elderly city employees, even though Washington officials thought the plan had "a lot of merit."

A spokesman said Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan, New York Deputy Mayor James A. Cavanagh and other officials had discussed the plan "most of the day" before Brennan and his aides advised it would violate federal laws which prohibit discrimination by age.

"We discussed the plan that they had made at length and determined it had a lot of merit in dealing with the human problem involved, in which people would be asked to retire without losing any income," a Labor Department spokesman said.

The act protects persons 40 to 65 from actions based upon their age.

The city had proposed to retire 860 employees who are 63 to 65 years old as part of an austerity program aimed at reducing expenses.

The Labor spokesman said the plan was "unique" because it would leave the retirees with the same — or more — net income by combining pensions with such fringe benefits as exemption from city, state and social security taxes.

Attica Case Set For Jury

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Jury deliberations were expected to begin after prosecution and defense summations this morning in the case of a man accused of possessing a tear gas gun during the 1971 Attica prison riot.

Vernon LaFranque, 23, formerly of New York City, is the second of 62 persons indicted in connection with the rebellion to have his case reach trial. But he will be the first defendant to have his case reach a jury. In the first trial, State Supreme Court Justice Frank R. Bayger dismissed the charges.

LaFranque took the stand in his own behalf Wednesday and denied having, seeing or firing a tear gas gun during the riot. He is charged with possession of contraband in connection with his alleged possession of the gun.

LaFranque said he and other inmates donned football helmets the first morning of the riot for their own protection.

He also said he was segregated from other inmates as a "leader" of the rebellion after state police stormed the prison.

LaFranque's cellmate testified earlier that he did not see a gas gun the first morning of the uprising, either.

Eight Are Arrested In Policy Operation

MANHATTAN Eight persons, including two from Ellenville and three from Middletown, were named Wednesday in a two-count federal grand jury indictment charging the eight with conspiring to conduct and with conducting an illegal policy gambling operation extending from the Bronx to Orange and Ulster counties.

Among those named in the indictment were Frank Cerniglia, 39, of the Terrace Motel, Ellenville, and of the Bronx; Harry Gorman, 57, of 30 Park Street, Ellenville, a former security guard in Middletown; and Joseph Brown, 39, of 82 Blumel Road, Middletown, who operates the J-R Taxi Co., 100 Center Street, Ellenville.

Also named were Felipe Reyes, 39, of 63-22 South Street, Middletown; Jose Ramos, 40, of 63-35 South Street, Middletown; George Centore, 45, of 2325 Ludlam Avenue, Elmont; Joseph Locascio, 44, and Richard De-Vincenzo, 20, both of the Bronx.

The filing of the indictment was announced by Paul J. Curran, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York.

According to Edward M. Shaw, attorney in charge of the New York Joint Strike Force Against Organized Crime, the case was based upon evidence gathered during a year-long investigation conducted by special agents of the FBI.

The indictment alleges that the defendants' policy business has operated over the last year, with its "banks" in the Bronx, and with betting activities extending into Ellenville and Middletown.

According to Special Attorney Edward J. Levitt, who presented the case to the grand jury, the maximum penalty on the charge of running an illegal gambling business is five years in prison and a $20,000 fine. The maximum charge on the conspiracy count is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

'Clean' Bill

Residents of Ulster County may celebrate the coming holidays in restaurants here with reasonable assurance that they are clean and that the food is prepared properly, according to Benjamin Storms, president of the Ulster County Board of Health.

Merry Christmas Is Losing Out

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Merry Christmas!" the most popular Yule message for centuries, has quietly been given the ax by American business.

On both Christmas cards and postage meter stamps, imprints business firms have abandoned "Merry Christmas" for the more generalized "Seasons Greetings."

This information comes from Pitney Bowes Co., of Stamford, Conn., which dominates the postage meter business, and from Fifth Avenue Card Shops of New York, which sell bulk orders of Christmas cards to many business firms.

However, "Merry Christmas" still retains its overwhelming popularity with the public, said a spokesman for Hallmark, one of the largest producers of greeting cards.

Pitney Bowes executives discovered, somewhat to their surprise, that only 2 per cent of its 600,000 firms who ordered holiday imprints for their postage measures used Merry Christmas as the message to put on their holiday mail. More than 60 per cent used Season's Greetings, said Pitney Bowes Vice-President Robert J. Pascal.

"Happy Holidays" was the next most popular message, followed by "Holiday Greetings" or just plain "Greetings." The fact that "Seasons Greetings" is suitable for both Christmas and the Jewish Chanukah festival undoubtedly is one cause of the trend. A major manufacturer said, "We use Season's Greetings because it doesn't apply to any special religious festival or group."

A public utility firm gave a somewhat more practical reason, saying "we can use Season's Greetings from before Thanksgiving until well after New Year's."

A bank spokesman said somewhat pompously that "Season's Greetings" is "tasteful" and "suits a bank's image." He said Merry Christmas is a little too informal for a bank.

A Letter from Santa... Orange Man a Part

NORTH POLE, Alaska (UPI) — Some of the merry elves helping Santa Claus answer the heavy load of mail he receives this time of year are a group of men stationed at Eielson Air Force Base.

This is the 20th year the men of Detachment 2 of the 11th Weather Squadron have come to Santa's aid in sending letters to children throughout the United States, telling them what they can expect in their Christmas stockings if they are good boys and girls.

This community about 14 miles south of Fairbanks and 10 miles from Eielson consists of little more than a trading post, a few residences and a U.S. post office.

The post office, thanks to St. Nick and the good guys at Eielson, does more business in December than in all the other months combined.

"So far this year, we have sent out about 3,000 letters," said Maj. Bill Murphy of Newburgh, N.Y., who has been stationed at Eielson the past three and one-half years.

"We've been doing this for 20 years and have handled more than 160,000 letters. Last year we had about 7,000."

What their voluntary work really amounts to is a free service to parents who want their children to get a letter from Santa, postmarked North Pole.

The parents know what their children want from Santa. They compose a letter from Santa to a son or daughter, enclose a stamped envelope addressed to the child, then mail the letter and envelope in another envelope addressed to Santa's Mailbag, Det. 2 — 11th Weather Squadron, APO Seattle 98737.

When the letters arrive at Eielson, Murphy said, four or five helpers spend a few hours each day pasting a picture of Santa on the return envelope.

At the end of the day shift, Sgt. Bob Hughes, who lives at North Pole, takes the letters with him, stops at the post office and has them postmarked and ready to catch the next flight out.

Murphy said parents should stamp the return envelope with an airmail stamp to assure speedy delivery.

Occasionally, he said, they will get just an addressed envelope with no letter.

"When that happens, we write a letter," he said.

Murphy said this year's mail began arriving right after Thanksgiving.

"We'll keep mailing them as long as we get them," he said, "even if it's after Christmas."

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A "Phase Four" Public Service Commission contingency plan for meeting potential electricity crises was recommended Wednesday for Consolidated Edison by a PSC examiner.

Fredric T. Suss said, "The city which has a plan to meet such crisis may well survive until relief becomes available."

He told the PSC that although cities and utilities with plans might survive such emergencies as another oil embargo, "others without such foresight may succumb."

In his comments, Suss said, "The company's abhorrence at the required mention of these grim measures is exceeded by the reluctance of the city's witnesses to face them."

Con Ed has proposed a fourphase emergency plan to be put into effect in stages depending on the gravity of the fuel shortage.

The first three phases of the emergency plan call for conservation efforts, such as reducing thermostats and cutting lighting.

The fourth phase, which would be triggered when the company would have on hand within two weeks only enough oil to burn for five days, provides for sterner measures including:

School holidays, reduction of railroad and subway air conditioning and lighting, series operations on subways between 5 a.m. and 8 p.m. weekdays, reduced street lighting, prohibiting lighted signs and mandatory holidays on Mondays and Fridays.

Suss said area disconnection of service should be the last step allowed to conserve energy. Other than making area disconnections the final step, Suss said the phase four program "should be approved without assignment of priorities to its various steps."

In addition to recommending approval of the plan, Suss said Con Ed should now seek contingent authority from city, state and federal agencies so that it could burn coal when its oil supplies fell to a point that within two weeks it would have only five days normal burn.

The PSC will make a decision on the examiner's recommendation following a review by the agency and other interested parties. No decision is expected before late January.

Officer Injured

KINGSTON — A young Navy officer home on leave for the holidays was seriously injured Wednesday night when struck by a car while crossing Broadway.

City police have charged the driver of the car involved in the accident with speed not reasonable or prudent, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and with being an unlicensed operator.

Injured in the 10:25 p.m. mishap was Arthur Kahlistorf, 18, of 332 4th Avenue, Kingston. Kahlistorf, who recently joined the Navy, is stationed in New London, Conn.

Rushed from the scene by Doctor's Ambulance, Kahlistorf was listed in poor condition today in the intensive care unit at Benedictine Hospital.

Police said the driver of the car, identified as Catello Viviani, 21, of 100 Cornell Street, told them he was going south on Broadway when two persons ran across the street, causing him to brake and go into a skid. The car skidded some 160 feet, striking Kahlistorf, who was also crossing Broadway on foot.

Local Christmas Seals Campaign Passes $52,000 Mark

KINGSTON The local Christmas seal campaign has just passed the $52,000 mark, placing the organizational drive of the Catskill Region TB and RD Association a little more than $1,800 ahead of last year's income at this time.

According to E. Robert Johnson, executive director, "about $20,000 campaign income still to be received will be necessary to meet minimal program needs."

Miss Rose Marie Feeney, RN, Ulster County chairman of the "Kick Out The Cigarette Habit—Kick In the Christmas Seals" program said that "even with the additional $20,000 we must plan a tight respiratory disease-smoking-air pollution-lung health program budget, especially with costs as elevated as they are. However, the Christmas seal health program has been commended for its close, effective management, and we, with our officers, directors, staff and volunteers, will employ every reasonable budgetary control to translate these more limited and highly valued Ulster County Christmas Seal donations into quality health program" she said.

"We urge our loyal Ulster County friends who have not yet done so to send in their usual contributions as soon as possible," Johnson said. Meanwhile, those interested in further respiratory disease and smoking educational literature may procure materials from TB-RD-Christmas Seal Headquarters, 124 Green Street.

The seal program, officially started by the Catskill Region TB and RD Association on Nov. 14 in Ulster County, has proved successful both in its educational effects and in the response to the campaign. In reporting the current status of the project, Miss Feeney pointed out, "We have been greatly impressed with the substantial weight of smoking education program that this project has generated in our schools, hospitals, restaurants, businesses, official offices and the community. Smoker reactions have been in evidence but we have been greatly impressed with the volume of interested and spirited response from non-smokers," she noted. "This has been a priority program area of the association since before the establishment of the surgeon general's report on smoking," Miss Feeney noted, "and combining special additional Smoking Education work with Christmas Seal campaign was designed to make Ulster County people aware of the vital relationship between this meaningful area of education and the Christmas seal fund which is directly responsible for making it and all lung-health program work possible in our area."

Falcon Story Aired

NEW PALTZ Dr. Heinz Meng, biology professor at the State University College at New Paltz will appear on the To Tell The Truth show Friday, Dec. 20 at 7 p.m. The program, which was taped on Oct. 22 following an Associated Press story about Meng's work with peregrine falcons, has already been shown in 14 cities throughout the United States. The local showing will be aired on WTEN, Channel 10 Albany.

Meng in 1971 became the first scientist to breed the endangered peregrine falcon in captivity. The species maintained a stable worldwide population until the 1950's when the widespread use of chlorinated hydrocarbons such as DDT subjected the peregrines to near extinction.

Last summer, in another unprecedented move, the New Paltz biologist reintroduced the captive bred falcons into the wild. About a month later the left wing of one of the birds was found in a patch of woods south of the college indicating that Eve, the female, was dead. Meng believes she was killed. Shortly after the incident, the male, Adam, was reported missing.

With co-author John Kaufman, Dr. meng gives "an engrossing account of a successful attempt to breed peregrine falcons in captivity" in a new illustrated volume. The book, entitled Falcons Return, will be released early next year.

X-Rays Revealing For 23

KINGSTON "Abnormal readings" were found in 23 persons X-rayed during the special three-day institutional and industry X-ray screening project, according to E. Robert Johnson, executive director of the Catskill Region TB and RD Christmas Seal Association.

Johnson said a total of 940 persons were screened during the project. The abnormal readings reported do not indicate directly what specific health problem exists, said Johnson, and further investigation may prove that some of the irregularities in the X-ray were of a passing nature.

All of the other identified lung health problems have been brought to the attention of a physician, he said.

The program, held Oct. 29-31, had official approval, and was sponsored and conducted by the association as one of its several Christmas Seal community health projects, Johnson said.

The association contracted for the use of a mobile unit and technicians, and the screening took place at Ferroxcube Corp. and FX Systems in Saugerties; the Woodstock and Olive plants of Rotron Corp.; the VirTis Co. in Gardiner; and Ulster County Community College for both faculty and students.

The program was a "shared-cost project," with a base payment per person by the industry or institution, and all additional program and reporting costs paid by the Christmas Seal health fund.

Consumers' March Is State-Wide Event

ALBANY
A march to Albany Jan. 6 to rally legislative support for a moratorium on utility rates is being planned by Concerned Consumers of the Mid-Hudson Area, Inc.

Three buses will leave from Ellenville, Kerhonkson and Kingston and will be part of a large state-wide contingent of organizations opposed to utility rate increases.

Mrs. Ann Bowler, a member of the executive committee of Concerned Consumers' urges residents to participate in the march. Bus seats may be reserved for one dollar by sending the payment to Concerned Consumers, Box 167, Kerhonkson, N.Y. 12446, for those persons taking buses from Ellenville and Kerhonkson. Those leaving on the Kingston bus may make reservations by mailing them to Concerned Consumers, Box 419, Saugerties. Support for the group's effort to secure a moratorium on utility rate hikes came recently from the Ulster County Legislature which voted 29 to two, with two abstentions, in favor of the march to Albany.

The resolution was submitted by George Barthel (D-Dist. 7) who cited county utility cost statistics which indicated that the cost of gas and electricity has doubled since 1973. He said $144,974 was spent in 1973 and $154,950 in 1974. He said that anticipated costs for 1975 are $297,000.

Concerned Consumers said it is primarily concerned with the latest decision of the Public Service Commission to raise the Central Hudson Gas and Electricity rates by 23 per cent for residential users.

Paltz Branch Is Organized

NEW PALTZ
The Concerned Consumers of Mid-Hudson Area Inc. (CCMHA) now has a New Paltz branch, organized by Mrs. Patti Railing and Mrs. Sandy Stallard.

A public meeting of the new group will be held in the New Paltz Town Hall Thursday at 8 p.m., with Mrs. Belle Sundeen, organizer of the parent group in Kerhonkson, explaining the group's goals.

A membership drive will be conducted at the meeting. The present CCMHA project is a boycott of sugar, calling what the group's figures say is a 1,120 per cent increase in sugar monopoly profits a "massive rip-off of the American people at a time when rising unemployment and deliberately created shortages show the contempt of these monopolies for the American tax-paying consumer."

Complete Course

NEW PALTZ
Thirty-two school bus drivers recently completed the 10-week instructional program sponsored by Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services.

Under the leadership of William Dedrick, and Thomas Kizis, BAOES instructors, drivers completed units on Traffic Laws, Driving Skills, Care of School Buses, Administrative Procedures, Drivers' Relationships, First Aid and School Bus Safety. The basic Curriculum is approved by the State Education Department, Bureau of Special Educational Management Services.

The drivers who completed the course and received completion certificates were:

Gift Suggestions for Those Gourmets on Your Shopping List

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The Christmas holidays this year come with unusual financial worries. The "Old Times" spirit of giving may still burn but in too many cases, the money to spend is not there.

There is something that can be done about it, particularly in the food line. Give our friends gourmet foods. Supermarket prices are so out of this world that many people have to pass up many things they used to enjoy. There is where you can come in—on Christmas Day with a present of some special treat to brighten the palate and heart for the holidays.

For those who plan to make their own Christmas gift foods at home, there are numerous new containers for that purpose. Made of glass, tin, wicker, plastic, or as crocks, they add gaiety to your special gift.

Some of the homemade items are fruit cakes, cookie bars of nuts, fruit, chocolate bits, etc. Supermarkets carry special teas with orange rind or other flavors added, flavored coffees, special seasoned salts for salad dressing or meats, fruit butters in crocks (they use less sugar than jellies), and jellies and marmalades. The cost of each item gift can be kept within $2 to $5.

Here are a few suggestions: Dundee marmalade in crocks, containers of English gooseberry or damson plum jams, glass jars of brandied peaches, papayas in syrup, oranges slices in syrup, Kadota figs in syrup, kumquats in syrup and pickled watermelon rind. Don't forget jars of marrons in syrup or the ever popular Nesselro Sauce (marrons, pineapple, melon rind and cherries.) This is wonderful over ice cream of a fine custard.

Wild rice is another more expensive suggestion. Also stuffed leaves from Greece that can be eaten either cold or hot. Round glass jars of cooked smoked tongue or smaller jars of lamb's tongue would be a pleasant surprise gift, too.

Canned artichoke bottoms, hearts of palm, celery hearts of flagelots in cans are all special vegetables to spark the Christmas feast. Any one would be very welcome.

There are also smoked oysters, gourmet tiny shrimp,

Greek olives, tall jars of anchovy-stuffed olives, bottles of pine nuts and macadamia nuts all to grace the cocktail buffet.

Honey makes a pleasant gift, too. There are so many kinds from all over the world you have a great choice. Why not give a jar of honey along with a tip of imported crackers? A nice thought.

Several foreign countries specialize in fancy cookies. They are usually beautifully packaged in tin for the Christmas trade. American bakers do the same thing. Cookies, particularly where there are children around the Christmas tree, are always welcome.

Finally, and practically, there is one more suggestion—for Christmas 1974—a gaily wrapped pound of sugar. For Christmas? Oh yes, oh yes! (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Thrift Shops and Recession

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Economy watchers take note. Charity thrift shops generally are thriving in the midst of a national financing slump.

"We have no problems. Last week was our best of the year," said Mary Young, manager of New York's United Cerebral Palsy Happiness Shop.

"It's too early to cry wolf," said Erlene Bennett, manager of the shop whose sales benefit the Spence-Chapin Adoption Service. "It's been our best sales year. This shop gets donations of quality items, ranging from couture clothes to fine jewelry to antiques."

"Our sales have picked up enormously from last year," said Natalie Fredericks, president of the Nearly New Shop which benefits eight charities and colleges. "Our customers are very picky. We've got a lot of new ones and also a lot of new donors."

"Our contributions are up 30 per cent in the northeast," said a spokesman for the Salvation Army. "Stores report substantial sales, especially in toys, cribs, and other items for children."

The quantity of donations is holding up along with sales, said Edward Rigney, assistant director for Goodwill Industries of Greater New York. "We're not having a recession."

"We used to have to hold onto furniture for a while," said Ethel Solomon of the Thrift House for the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. "Now it moves right out. We can sell it if we can get the merchandise."

She said the older, wealthier people who used to donate lavishly now go off to Florida for the winter so there is a seasonal lull. But the shop, located in an office area, gets the changed customer — the younger people.

A United Press International spot check around the country showed most thrift shops still thriving, although in some areas businesses gave mixed reports.

John Huber, president of Goodwill in Charleston, W. Va., reported some increase in sales because shoppers were looking for lower-priced goods but "on the other hand, we rely on collections of donated materials and this has tapered off."

"With people not buying new things, they are not giving us old material . . . if someone decides to keep a coat or (other) clothes item for an extra season, by the time we do get it, it may be worn out or not usable at all."

In Atlanta, Ga., Goodwill's president Jim White reported, "We are starting to see some people shopping our stores that were not a year ago. We are selling to more lower and middle income people . . . There are cases where a family may buy a refrigerator or other appliance from Goodwill, expecting it to last a year, rather than get a new one."

San Francisco area thrift shops reported mixed business. A Salvation Army store spokesman said calls were down 30 to 40 per cent. People are hanging onto things. Quality is about the same on clothing donations, but on furniture and other large items, the quality is not there, he said.

In Dallas, the Ladies of Charity, interdenominational, reported requests for help were up slightly and there was no dropoff in donations.

"I don't think we're really feeling the layoffs yet," said Ethel Gutting, president. "Whenever there seems to be a real problem, we have people who respond if we put out the word."

Christmas Gesture

Robert Louis Stevenson (1850-1894), author of "Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped," was born on Nov. 13 but "gave" his birthday to a girl born on Christmas Day. Hallmark Cards researcher Sally Hopkins says Stevenson made a gift of his birth-date to a child called Annie H. Ide, to let her have "two joyous celebrations a year, with a proper birthday and a merry Christmas."

A Berry Christmas Sweetmeat Tree

Bountiful fresh cranberries can bring a special glow to your Christmas tree — without electric bulbs! Not only will your decorations be truly traditional — but most will be edible too. String garlands with cranberries, popcorn, miniature marshmallows and gumdrops. Use strong cotton thread and make lengths 4 to 5 feet each. To decorate styrofoam balls, cones and wreath shapes use pins or toothpick halves to fasten similar confections in a variety of designs. For the final touch hang your very own homemade cookies cut as ginger men, stars and flower shapes. To sugar cranberries simply dip in egg whites and then lightly roll in a pan of sugar and dry at room temperature.

Berry Sugar Dandies

(Makes about 8 dozen depending on size and shape of the cookie)

1 cup vegetable shortening

2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups honey
5 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon or orange extract
2 cups (approx.) Ocean Spray fresh or frozen fresh cranberries Cream shortening and sugar. Stir in eggs and honey. Stir in flour, baking soda, salt and extract. Knead a few times on a floured board into a smooth ball. Roll out on a floured board to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes. Place cookies on ungreased cookie sheets. Use cranberries to decorate cookies. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375° F.) for 10 to 12 minutes or until puffed and lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheet with a pancake turner and cool on a rack.

Cranberry Caramel Drops

Treat Family and Friends to an Old Fashioned Holiday

1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 package (3 1/2 ounces) in stant butterscotch pudding
5 cups quick cooking oat meal
2 cups Ocean Spray fresh or frozen fresh cranberries
In a large saucepan, combine butter, sugar and milk. Cook while stirring until mixture comes to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and stir in pudding, oatmeal and cranberries. Stir until well blended. Cook 15 minutes; then drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper. Let set several hours before packing into an air-tight container and storing in a cool dry place.

Cranberry Chews

(Makes 1 13" x 9" x 2" pan)
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups biscuit mix
2 cups Ocean Spray fresh or frozen fresh cranberries
1 cup chopped walnuts
Mix eggs, sugar, lemon juice and nutmeg. Stir in biscuit mix and beat until smooth. Fold in cranberries and nuts. Spread mixture evenly in a greased 13" x 9" pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 to 45 minutes or until richly browned. Cool in pan and then cut into bars and serve.

A World Atlas for Foreign Food Buffs

By Gaynor Maddox

Cookbooks make excellent holiday gifts and are appreciated by both the expert cook and the beginner. One that covers the spectrum (you'll want your own copy) is the handsome "The World Atlas of Food."

This is a beautifully illustrated volume with 1000 illustrations and 100 pages in full color. (Published by Simon & Schuster, New York, $29.95).

"Man has been cooking for more than quarter of a million years. Even before this, our primitive ancestors were already experimenting with the whole range of fascinating tastes available to them in the wild."

"But what we have eaten and how we have eaten it changed through the ages almost beyond recognition," states the book's introduction.

After that comes a long epicurean journey with James Beard, one of the world's better known gourmets. What he describes and the accompanying illustrations will arouse the appetite and questing spirit of anyone. It is the next best thing to going along in person on a gustatory safari with Jim Beard, the huge, knowledgeable and always amiable supergourmet.

Next comes a list of "biographies" — of fish, beef, lamb, pork, sausage, seafood, herbs, breads, spices, poultry and eggs, etc., right down to the life histories of salt and pepper. Here are a few excerpts from these different "biographies."

Beef and Veal: Most breeds of cattle can be traced back to the wild cattle that were hunted with such purpose and passion by Stone Age man, and which he painted on the walls of the caves of Lascaux.

Lamb and Mutton: The people of the Middle East have always prized lamb. Their methods of cooking lamb were brought across the world by conquering armies and returning crusaders.

Pork and Ham: The pig is the world's most useful food animal. First domesticated in Turkey about 7000 B.C.

Game, Birds and Animals: The first game animals included the mammoth elephant, the primeval rabbit, wild pigs and the long-horned buffalo.

Grains: With their high energy content and their worldwide availability, grains have always been a basic component of man's diet — rice in Asia, wheat and rye in western Europe, maize (called corn in the United States and Canada) in the Americas, sorghum and millet in Africa and buckwheat in Russia and eastern Europe. No other single category of food is as important or widespread.

Cheese: This earliest of processed portable foods has probably existed since about 900 B.C. when milk-yielding animals were domesticated in the Middle East and Europe. Archaeologists have traced it back to 400 B.C. from the records of the Sumerians to the Egyptians and Chaldeans.

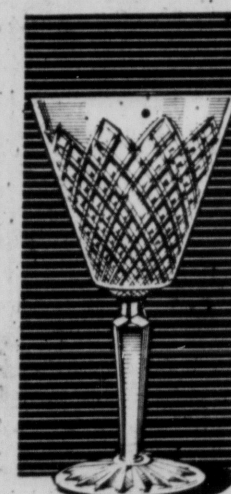

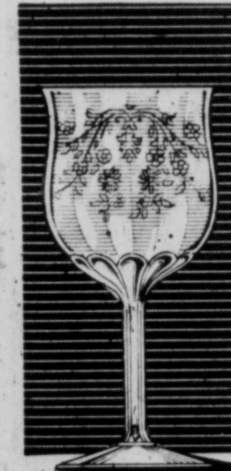

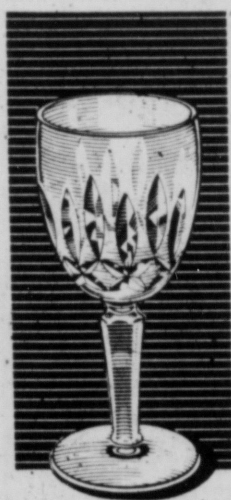

There also is a guide to the Great Regional Dishes of the World. This section describes the choice foods of various sections of all lands. Each is illustrated with a food map.

France and China get the most thorough attention in the book, but the Netherlands, Germany, Denmark, Switzerland and Italy all receive careful scrutiny.

Lefooters Christmas Dance Friday

Lefooters Western Square Dance Club will hold a Christmas potluck supper for its members on Friday at Hurley Reformed Church hall, off Route 209. The supper will begin at 6:30 p.m. Members are asked to bring a casserole, salad or a dessert.

The square dance will begin at 8 p.m. and is open to all club level dancers.

Stan Burdick of Huron, Ohio, will be guest caller. A full time professional caller, Burdick travels more than 60,000 miles per year to call for clubs and festivals throughout the U.S. and Canada.

He and his wife Cathie are editors and publishers of "American Square Dance," a national publication enjoyed by many thousands of dancers, callers and leaders.

For the past 12 years, he has been invited to lead panels, discussions, and workshops at the National Square Dance Conventions and has been a keynote speaker at statewide square dance leadership clinics.

Burdick is a trainer of callers, averaging one clinic a month for meeting with caller groups throughout the U.S. and Canada. He conducts clinics and "three-day colleges" for newer callers and is now the executive secretary of Callerlab, the international association of square dance callers.

Burdick has published several books of his own and regularly publishes books by other authors for square dancers. He contributes square dance cartoons each month to three publications.

He calls regularly for six clubs in his own state, teaches a beginner's class once a year, conducts monthly workshops, and calls on the staff of many leading festivals. A past president of the Cleveland Callers Association, he served as an officer in other callers' associations, and helped organize two such groups. He has recorded on half a dozen square dance discs, including Grenn, Top and Red Boot labels.

In almost a quarter of a century of calling square dances for all ages, all levels and experience, and in almost every state and Canadian province, Stan Burdick has been a strong advocate of modern square dancing as the "best social tonic for this age."

She has yellow teeth and a heavy heart

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married, 28-year-old woman with a problem I've never seen in your column. All my life I've been unhappy with my teeth. They are strong and healthy, but berry yellow. I can't tell you how much I want lovely white teeth. Abby! I've tried everything I've seen advertised, but nothing has worked for me.

Last evening I sat next to a dentist at a dinner party, and I mentioned that I would love to have my teeth capped for vanity's sake. He laughed and said, "Forget it. No ethical dentist would destroy healthy teeth for cosmetic reasons."

Abby, why not? They're MY teeth, and if I want them capped for cosmetic reasons, why wouldn't an ethical dentist do it? After all, plastic surgeons "destroy" healthy noses every day to reshape them to make people happier with their appearance. What's the difference?

HATES TO SMILE
DEAR HATES: Your dinner partner should have told you that some dentists are reluctant to tinker with Nature's original work, because it increases the possibilities of problems. However, my dental experts do not agree that "no ethical dentist would perform cosmetic dentistry on healthy teeth that are unsightly." When skillfully done, such dentistry does not "destroy" teeth. Many ethical dentists practice cosmetic dentistry to the delight of grateful patients who have learned to smile again.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Jane, is 25, attractive and holds a responsible position. She is also quite naive and unsophisticated. For the last two years Jane has been seeing a young man who could easily get married if he wanted to. He has Jane eating out of his hand, but this relationship seems to be going nowhere.

Jane refuses to date anyone else, but this young man openly dates others, which hurts Jane deeply.

Every time we attempt to discuss this one-sided relationship with Jane, it results in an emotional outburst and she tells us to please stay out of her affairs.

What can we do? My husband would like to tell this young man to either fish or cut bait, but I don't think we should interfere. What do you think?

JANE'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think you're right. Any pressure on father's part would send the young man running for the hills. Let Jane handle it, and don't compound her problem by attempting to discuss it.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Second Thoughts" prompts me to write. (She wanted to know whether to go ahead and marry a man who had beaten her up in a fit of jealousy because she danced with another man.)

I'm glad you advised her against marrying him. I spent 20 years as a detective with Scotland Yard, and as such I've had a lot of experience with emotionally unstable persons.

Obviously, a man who would beat a woman is in need of help, and he should be helped, but it is definitely wrong for a woman to be legally chained to such a person.

My own observations have led me to believe that persons with uncontrollable tempers have a basic emotional defect, and they certainly will not improve after marriage. They sometimes improve, however, when they see someone with a slighter bigger stick than the one they wield. URSA: LUGANO, SWITZERLAND

Tiny Tips

Good Riding

Wearing platform sandals while bike riding is dangerous. You can't feel the pedals under your feet. This can throw off your leverage and also cause your feet to slip.

Paint Cleanup

If you get turpentine on your hands after working with paint, rub a twist of lemon rind over your fingers and nails to eliminate the odor.

Well Framed

Refinished wooden newspaper type trays make excellent display shelves for sea shells and miniature bottle collections.

Slimming

Everything you need—slimming, skimming, low-pleat dress, tunic, pants plus easy-crochet shawl to toss over all.

Printed Pattern 9209: Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Half Sizes 12 1/2, 14 1/2, 16 1/2, 18 1/2, 20 1/2, 22 1/2. PLEASE STATE DRESS SIZE.

Send $1.00 for each pattern. Add 25¢ for each pattern for first-class mail and special handling. Send to Marian Martin, The Daily Freeman.

Only Six More Days To Go

Dear Folks:

In a few days that little old man in a bright red suit and a long white beard will be coming down your chimney.

Now, for heaven's sake, don't spin your wheels trying to have everything perfect.

Try to do most of your cooking the day before and enjoy this glorious holiday season, 'cause sure as shootin' the rest of your family will.

Smile no matter how hard it seems at times, and remember to love one another because I love you.

Heloise

HINTS FROM HELOISE

That husband of yours sure had a great idea. Especially on some cold day when it falls his job to put up those pretty Christmas outdoor lights.

Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Does this Christmas Cookie Recipe sound familiar to any of your readers?

Light oven, get bowl, spoons and ingredients, grease pan, crack nuts, remove 10 blocks, seven toy autos and one wad of chewing gum from kitchen tables.

Measure two cups of flour, remove Johnny's hands from flour, wash flour off him, measure one more cup flour to replace flour on floor.

Put flour, baking powder, and salt in sifter. Answer doorbell. Return to kitchen. Remove Johnny's hands from bowl. Wash Johnny. Answer phone. Return. Remove quarter-inch salt from greased pans. Grease more pans. Look for Johnny. Answer phone. Return to kitchen and find Johnny. Remove his hands from bowl. Wash shortening, etc., off him. Take up greased pan and find nut shells in it. Head for Johnny who flees, knocking bowl off table. Wash kitchen floor. Wash table. Wash kitchen walls. Wash dishes. Wash Johnny. Call baker. Lie Down!!

Mrs. L.W. Hall

Dear Heloise:

On Christmas morning the fun is watching the children open and play with their gifts. But when to go put the turkey in the oven? Do it the night before.

About midnight, or whenever you're through putting the things under the tree, put your turkey in your oven. Turn the oven on to 250 degrees. If you like, put the turkey cook slowly all night long and when the little ones wake, you will have that lovely smell of turkey and dressing pervading the house.

I began doing this years ago, as the bird doesn't shrink as much and the juices stay in.

A wonderful way to beat the confusion of a busy Christmas morning.

Mrs. H.

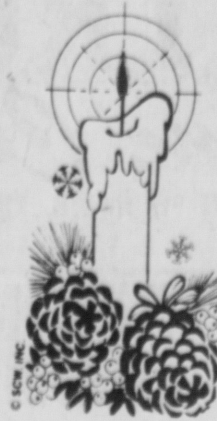

THIS COLUMN is written for you... the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of The Daily Freeman. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Patients May Invite Guests to Yule Meal

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, patients at Benedictine Hospital will not only enjoy a special Christmas dinner but may invite a member of his or her family to dine with them, according to announcement made by Janet Kirk R.D., chief dietician, and William Hammond, food service director.

The menu will include a relish dish, shrimp cocktail or fruit cup supreme and cream of asparagus soup.

There will be a choice of turkey, African rock lobster tails or roast sirloin of beef with a wide choice of vegetables, rolls, desserts, mixed nut meats and fresh fruit. Beverages will include coffee, tea, milk, cider and chilled Sauterne or Rose wine.

Coming or going?

Remember, wherever you're moving—long distance or across town—a WELCOME WAGON call simplifies the business of getting settled. Your Hostess will greet you at the new address with a basket of useful gifts and community information to save your family time and money. Check the Yellow Pages when you arrive. She'll be waiting for your call.

Different Views on How to Change WeatherBering Strait Seen as 'Thermostat of World'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Some scientists believe the Earth is cooling and heading into another ice age. Specialists in a separate part of the scientific community see the Bering Strait as the "thermostat" of the world.

A former Pentagon "think tank" research consultant turned journalist has dovetailed the two ideas.

Lowell Ponte of Los Angeles says damming the Bering strait across its 56-mile wide mouth between Siberia and Alaska could change the cold and warm climates sufficiently to control earth's climate and reverse a trend of droughts which burden people in need of food.

More than two years ago, physicist Clyde Cowen, then at Catholic University in Washington and codiscoverer of the neutrino—the smallest partical of an atom—suggested such a dam to the government.

Cowen said it would bring heavy rains to the Pacific southwest and turn deserts into green valleys. Cowen, who died earlier this year, also said that although he arrived at the idea independently in the early 1950s, it had been discussed for several years in Soviet scientific journals.

"The Bering Strait is the only place I know where one could put his finger in the climate of the world and improve it."

It was believed such a dam would turn the Pacific into a warmer ocean which could change the climates of North America and Siberia, but also would alter the North Atlantic by drawing the warm midAtlantic currents into the Arctic Ocean.

Dr. Ronald L. Lavoie, director of environmental modification research for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said he does not know of any serious studies of the proposal. Lavoie said government policy is not to conduct any such experiments without knowing what the consequences would be, and he said scientists are not able to predict what would happen to weather.

In a recently published booklet, "The New Cold War,"

Ponte quoted several scientists who agree the Earth is cooling.

He said there are about 60 separate theories as to why, but they all agree the results of this global cooling could have tragic effects on the world's food supply.

Another journalist, Tom Alexander, in a February, 1974, Fortune Magazine article comprehensively delineated the evidence of many scientists concerned with the possibility of another ice age.

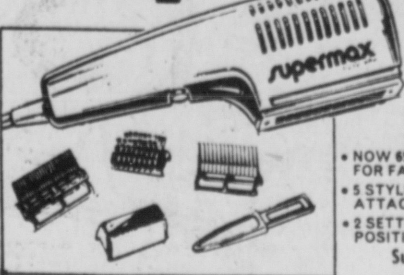

It was noted by climatologists that the Earth began a cooling period about the 15th Century. It was not until about 1890 that the Earth warmed up significantly. And during a period of little more than 50 years—until about 1945—crops became more abundant and the world's population more than doubled.

After about 1949, the cooling was noticeable again. Alexander noted that the total drop since the 1940s has been about 2.7 degrees. While the change seems small, the effects have been dramatic to farmers and fishermen.

Dollar Continues Its Climb Back

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. dollar today continued its climb back from the record lows it hit earlier this week in European money markets. Gold eased back from near record highs.

A Belgian bank official said he expected the dollar stay low on international markets after Wednesday's announcement of a new unfavorable U.S. balance of payments situation.

But the American currency rose slightly at today's opening to 37.18 francs compared with Wednesday's close at just under 37 francs. After an hour of trading the dollar had risen in value to 37.35 francs.

Similar gains were registered elsewhere, although the dollar remained weak against the West German mark. In Frankfurt the currency opened at 2.432 marks against the previous day's close of 2.437 marks.

In Zurich dealers paid 2.6025 francs for the dollar, compared with Wednesday's 2.5687 francs. During the day the dollar already climbed up Wednesday from an all-time low of 2.5325 Swiss francs.

The pound sterling weakened against the dollar in London, opened at $2.3355 to the pound compared with Wednesday's $2.3425 close.

In Amsterdam the dollar rose from $2.529 overnight to $2.5315 at the opening of trading and in Milan it was pegged at 655.35 Lire against Wednesday's 654.90 lire.

Gold dropped $1.50 in Zurich to open at $185.75 per ounce. In London the metal was marked down 75 cents to $185.75.

Capt. Lashes Juvenile Courts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police angrily denounced the juvenile courts Wednesday after a 16-year-old with a record of 12 arrests shot and killed a student on a high school campus and wounded another in a gang war.

"Are the courts doing their part? It is clear that they have not done their part," said police Capt. Stephen Downing.

The remark was the latest in a series of sharp police criticism of the juvenile courts for releasing young criminals.

The alleged killer had been arrested 12 times, six times for felonies, including carrying guns, robbery, burglary and auto theft.

"The police have done their part with this individual," Downing said. "The issue is the protection of the community" by the "non-system" of justice in juvenile courts, he said.

The youth who did the shooting was arrested Oct. 26 for an incident involving guns in a gang conflict. He was immediately released and the next day was arrested for armed robbery, Downing said.

Police said the arrested youth—who cannot be identified by name because of his age—walked onto the campus at Manual Arts High School during lunch period Wednesday, looking for Charles Riley, 17, in a war between gangs known as "The Family" and the "Brims."

Riley was a known member of "The Family," while the "Brims" dominate the campus, students said.

The youth, not a student, shot Riley, seriously wounding him, and then fired at Anthony Mack, 16, killing him instantly. The killer fled with two other youths who had a car waiting.

Police took three suspects into custody within 90 minutes, seizing a gun.

CITY OF KINGSTON
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the Common Council of the City of Kingston will, in accordance with the provisions of Section 507(2)(d) of the General Municipal Law of the State of New York, as amended, hold a public hearing on January 7, 1975, at 7:00 P.M., at the Common Council Chambers, City Hall, Kingston, New York, to consider the approval of a proposed disposition of Disposition Parcel 26 in the Uptown Renewal Project, NY R-121 to Friends of Historic Kingston, a not-for-profit corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York.

Disposition Parcel 26 is to be used for historic purposes in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan for the Project. Disposition Parcel 26 is to be preserved and maintained as an historic site. No improvements are required on Disposition Parcel 26.

Disposition Parcel 26 is a parcel of approximately 18,884 square feet in area generally located on the northeast corner of North Front Street and relocated Converse Street, and is more fully described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the Northerly street line of North Front Street, said point being the Southwest corner of lands of Emma Gilmore and Sarah E. Allen and running:

(1) thence from said point of beginning along the Northerly street line of North Front Street, South 86° 28' 30" West, 19.15 feet to a point;
(2) thence Westerly and Northerly on a curve to the right having a radius of 21.00 feet, distance of 28.84 feet to a point on the relocated Easterly street line of Converse Street;
(3) thence along the relocated Easterly street line of Converse Street Northerly on a curve to the right having a radius of 775.00 feet, a distance of 270.49 feet to a point;

(4) thence along the Southerly line of Disposition Parcel No. 6, North 87° 52' 40" East, 46.32 feet to a point;
(5) thence along the Westerly line of Disposition Parcel No. 6 and lands of Emma Gilmore and Sarah E. Allen, South 2° 08' 30" West, 241.35 feet to a point;
(6) thence along the Westerly line of lands of Emma Gilmore and Sarah E. Allen, South 4° 46' 30" East, 44.20 feet to the place of beginning.

All bearings are referred to Grid North for the New York (East Zone) Plane Coordinate System.

Friends of Historic Kingston has previously been found by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency to be qualified and financially responsible to purchase Disposition Parcel 26. The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has, in accordance with its established rules and procedures, duly designated Friends of Historic Kingston as a qualified and eligible redeveloper of Disposition Parcel 26, and the Common Council of the City of Kingston has approved Friends of Historic Kingston as a qualified and eligible redeveloper.

The price to be paid by Friends of Historic Kingston for Disposition Parcel 26 is $1,200.00.

The essential terms of the Deed of Conveyance to be executed by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and Friends of Historic Kingston and to be delivered to Friends of Historic Kingston is to pay $1,200.00 for Disposition Parcel 26 simultaneously with the delivery of the Deed; to comply with the provisions of the Urban Renewal Plan and the land use restrictions provided in said Deed; and to preserve and maintain Disposition Parcel 26 as an historic site in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan.

Vote Favors Home

KINGSTON
The Children's Home of Kingston has been voted into provisional membership by a unanimous vote of the Child Welfare League of America's board of directors, according to Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush, president of the home's board of directors.

The Kingston agency, at 26 Grove Street, was notified of the designation by Joseph H. Reid, executive director of the league, who said that membership in his organization denotes recognition of the home's adherence to accepted standards of child welfare practice.

"The progress your agency has made in strengthening its services to children, the evidence it has given of its desire to further improve its services and its willingness and desire to support good services on a nationwide basis, deserves recognition," he said. "This enrollment as a provisional member is the first step toward accredited membership in the league's family of 300 child caring agencies and institutions, all of which are committed to providing qualified professional services to children. In welcoming your agency into provisional membership I express for the league's membership, board and staff the belief that the association with The Children's Home of Kingston will prove of mutual benefit to the league and the agency."

Mrs. Hazenbush explained that the board and the staff have devoted much time and effort in the development and refinement of the home's various programs to meet the league's requirements.

The home has utilized the consultative services, publications and professional conferences provided by the league for at least 10 years. Accredited membership in the league is another highlight for the agency in its continuing efforts to provide quality service for children and their families.

Dutchess Booklet

POUGHKEEPSIE
A new edition of the booklet "Directory of Social Resources in Dutchess County" will soon be available, according to Mrs. Freda Casner, director of the county youth board.

Since it first appeared in 1969 more than 5,000 copies have been sold. The booklet will be sold at cost, $1.50 per copy.

The new revision lists and describes the services provided for the community by more than 500 organizations. Services are grouped in such categories as alcohol abuse, drug abuse, health, education, housing, law enforcement, and other related areas.

A letter requesting revisions and additions to listings already in the booklet will soon be sent to agencies. Those which respond by Jan. 6, 1975 will be included in the revised directory.

"The programs and personnel of county agencies are continually changing," said Fredrica Goodman, chairman of the youth board, "so we feel it is important to keep the directory up to date in order that it may continue to be useful to the community. We are sure that the directory is being utilized extensively because we continually receive requests for copies."

FINLEY (L), WITH ATTORNEY NEIL PAPIANO

Finley Still Battling Despite Court Setback

NEW YORK (UPI) — While "Catfish" Hunter holds court today in Hertford, N.C., on a dozen or so more million dollar offers for his pitching services, Charlie Finley is not yet through in court 3,000 miles away despite an initial setback in his attempt to keep baseball's most coveted righthander in Oakland.

Hunter, who became a free agent Monday when an arbitration board ruled in his favor over a contract dispute with Finley, has confirmed "at least eight or nine offers" for his services already in the first official day of open bidding.

A's owner Finley, meanwhile, true to his code, wasn't giving up just yet, but was rebuffed in his first court case when California judge Spurgeon Avakian declined to issue a temporary restraining that would have prohibited Hunter from negotiating or signing contracts with other clubowners.

However, the judge did set the case down for arguments, Jan. 3.

"Realistically, I don't think there will be a contract signed before then because the clubs would be leery of signing Mr. Hunter with court action pending and Mr. Hunter would be anxious to get the top dollar," Avakian told attorneys at the in-chambers session.

"I'm not worried," said Hunter. "When this arbitration panel was set up, both the owners and the ballplayers agreed its decisions over contract conflicts would be binding."

"I see that as meaning binding for both sides—not just the players."

Meanwhile, Hunter's phone has hardly stopped ringing in Hertford with the Yankees, Red Sox, Angels, Twins, Indians, Expos, Braves, Pirates and Royals all confirming to have made overtures to the 28-year old American League Cy Young Award winner.

"What he's worth and what he can get is beside the question," said Gene Autry, Board Chairman of the California Angels. "I think he will go pretty high. As for a million dollars, well, I wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't go for that."

Pittsburgh Pirates' general manager Joe Brown also expressed his interest openly, but hedged as to how high he would go. "We want to be fair our own players in negotiations," said Brown. "Naturally, if we went too high in trying to land Hunter, it would have a damaging effect on contract talks with the other Pirate players."

A rather surprising admitted bidder for Hunter was Calvin Griffith of the Minnesota Twins—not known to be one of baseball's biggest spendthrifts.

"I have no idea what he wants," said Griffith, "but I'm going to meet with my auditor and staff and see how much we can come up with."

Hunter, of course, while not setting any limit on his services, does have some specific ideas of what should be included in his new contract.

"In particular, I'm asking for securities and annuities in the form of insurance for my kids," he said. "Plus, I'd want a bonus for myself, a long term contract, say five years, and annuities for me."

In professing little or no worry over Finley's threatened suit, Hunter also noted he had not heard a word from the suddenly-quieted A's twiner.

"The only person from the A's organization I've talked to since this whole thing broke on Monday is Gene Tenace's wife," Hunter said.

TOM CAHILL

Christmas Comes Early for Cahill

CORNWALL, N.Y. (UPI)—Christmas came a week early for Tom and Bonnie Cahill this year.

A year ago, Tom was dismissed as Army football coach on a chilling, icy day when winter's bitter winds were whipping the Academy and Army brass and cadets were morose over a football season that had been an utter disaster.

Tom's cadets had lost all 10 games, and the finale had been a 51-0 defeat at the hands of Navy.

That little of that had been Cahill's fault could not be taken into account. That he had led Army to some of its last great seasons when he took over from Paul Dietzel back in 1966 did not matter, nor did it matter that Tom had been his peers' selection as coach of the year in his first season.

Cahill had to go, and his dismissal was the family's Christmas present.

But on Wednesday, there were smiles in the rented home here across the river from the Academy.

Tom had called from Schenectady to tell Bonnie and the children that he was back in coaching, signing on to direct Union College.

It will be a far cry for Cahill from the days when he was sending undermanned Army teams out against the likes of Notre Dame, Nebraska, Penn State and other national powers, but to Tom the thing that counts most is being back with, as he says, "just good kids. Union's a good school, and I've never been happier than when I've worked with good kids."

In the fall of 1975, he'll be sending Union teams against teams like Alfred, Williams, Hobart and others in NCAA Division II and Division III, but he'll send them out just as if he were facing the kind of schedule Army plays.

All you can do is your best with what you have," Cahill says, "but most important, you have to try to understand that the kids playing for you are doing their best. You can't ask for anything more, can you?"

He has spent 25 years working like that, and this past year had been an empty one for him, doing a job with West Point that was divorced from the way of life he always had known.

"All we've ever wanted," said Bonnie, "is for him to be happy. A man has to get up each morning and get to his job happy to meet a challenge. Tom has that again, and that certainly is the best Christmas present we could possibly have."

It was just as cold outside here today as it was a year ago, but how warm it was inside for all the Cahills.

Four Straight Wins for Ulster

STONE RIDGE

The backcourt duo of Chris Cummings and Rachid Walker combined for 45 points in the Senate Gym here Wednesday night to lead surging Ulster County Community College to its fourth straight victory, a 74-61 Mid-Hudson Conference win over Sullivan CC.

The game was tight in the first half, and UCCC left the court at the intermission leading by only three. But the Generals, who were generous with turnovers in the first half, made even more errors in the second half, and Cummings and Walker shot Ulster out to a big lead.

"We had 12 turnovers in the first half and 15 in the second half," said Sullivan coach John Webster. "You can't expect to win even if you're shooting 100 per cent from the floor with that."

Eleven straight points, six from Walker and five from Cummings, pushed Ulster into command, 46-32. That broke the contest wide open, and UCCC poured it on by running up leads as big as 26 points.

The Senators' big men paved the way with a good effort off the boards. Soph Carl Mabry hauled in ten rebounds, Fletcher Abrams had nine rebounds and freshman center Joe McCall had seven rebounds and nine points.

Cummings, who hit on 10 of 18 attempts from the field, led all scorers with 24 points. Walker added 21. The Senators took advantage of some heavy fouling by the Generals by hitting 16 of 20 shots from the free throw line. Curt Daniels battled his way to 20 points to pace Sullivan, but Beveris Robertson with 15 was the only other visitor to shoot effectively against Ulster.

Ulster, now 4-1 in the MHC and alone in second place behind unbeaten Westchester, starts a road trip on Friday. The Senators will meet La Guardia CC.

Derek Knows When to Lose

By UPI

Even Derek Sanderson, whose quick wit and busy mouth helped earn him a million dollars, knows when and how to lose an argument with the proper grace.

The flamboyant, mustachioed center, not generally known for his restraint, let someone else get in the last word Wednesday night and as a result he wound up with his first hat trick in a Ranger uniform.

The discussion centered around a second period goal that had the players confused even after the Rangers had completed a 7-0 rout over the Minnesota North Stars to snap a four-game winless skein. Bill Fairbairn, off to one side, sent the puck into the slot, where it appeared to hit the skate of Minnesota defenseman Tom Reid and deflect behind goaltender Cesare Maniago.

When Sanderson was credited with the goal, he told the official scorer he hadn't touched it. But the official insisted that he saw the replay on television three times, and that the puck had gone in off Derek's right knee.

Before the period had ended, Sanderson added two more goals, including a short-handed effort in the final eight seconds of the session.

"How far do you want me to argue?" Sanderson joked later when asked how long he pursued the discussion. "It was a nice gesture by me. I didn't want to overdo it."

"Anyway, Billy said to forget it. He said three goals looks better than two."

Fairbairn, as subdued a personality as Sanderson is outgoing, simply shrugged and said, "A goal is a goal. As long as it counts for the team, it's okay." Oddly, Fairbairn, with three assists, also duplicated Sanderson's feat of scoring a short-handed goal, the first twt turned it by New York this season.

In other National Hockey League games, Buffalo edged the New York Islanders, 3-2, Los Angeles defeated Kansas City 6-0, Montreal nipped California 4-3, Toronto overcame Pittsburgh 6-4 and Chicago beat Detroit 7-5.

Sabres 3, Islanders 2

Kings 6, Scouts 0

Juha Widing, Bob Berry, Mike Murphy and Bob Nevin scored within a span of 3 1/2 minutes during the second period as Los Angeles remained two points behind first-place Montreal in Division 3. Gary Edwards stopped 20 shots for the shutout.

Canadiens 4, Sals 3

Montreal, trailing 2-0 entering the final period, exploded for three goals in 70 seconds to pull out the game. Jacques Lemaire scored twice for the Canadiens and Yvan Cournoyer and Steve Shutt added one goal each.

Leafs 6, Penguins 4

Lann McDonald had two goals and an assist for Toronto while Jean Pronovost, celebrating his 29th birthday, scored twice for Pittsburgh. Pronovost, though, bruised his collarbone after crashing into the goalposts in the last minute of the opening period and had to sit out the rest of the game.

Black Hawks 7, Red Wings 5

Chicago scored five consecutive goals in a 9:12 span of the opening period to take a 5-1 lead. But Danny Grant and Earl Anderson scored two goals each to pull Detroit even early in the third period. Cliff Koroll then scored his second goal of the game on a power play with 7:21 left to give the Hawks their winning edge. Ivan Boldirev and Alain Daigle also had two goals for Chicago.

Michel Cormier and Don Borgeson could have saved their Phoenix teammates some sweat Wednesday night by simply advising them beforehand to "leave the scoring to us."

Cormier registered his second hat trick of the season and added a pair of goals as the Roadrunners gained a 53 World Hockey Association victory over the Vancouver Blazers, stretching their winning streak to four games.

Borgeson also was credited with three assists and Cormier with one as their line accounted for all of the scoring.

Hugh Harris, a member of the Roadrunners until 12 days ago, scored the first Vancouver goal and Butch Deadmarsh and Bryan Campbell had the others.

In the only other WHA action, the Quebec Nordiques moved to within one point of first-place Toronto in the Canadian Division by coasting to a 5-1 triumph over the Winnipeg Jets.

Francois Lacombe had two goals and an assist for the Nordiques, who gained a 3-0 lead in the first period, with Serge Bernier, Rick Jordan and Robert Guindon notching the other goals. novost, celebrating his 29th birthday, scored twice for Pittsburgh. Pronovost, though, bruised his collarbone after crashing into the goalposts in the last minute of the opening period and had to sit out the rest of the game.

Giants Switching To Shea Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI) — A change in head coaches wasn't any help for the New York Giants this season—but maybe a change in playing sites next year will improve the football club's sorry record.

The Giants, who posted a 2-12 mark in 1974, will play their 1975 home games at New York's Shea Stadium, the same Shea Stadium that serves as the home park of the football Jets and baseball's Mets and Yankees.

The announcement was to be made today in a news conference attended by officials of the Giants, Jets, Mets and Yankees.

The Giants—awaiting the completion of their new home in the New Jersey Hackensack Meadowlands in 1976, completed their second home season in New Haven this month, losing all seven contests and running their two year record at the Ivy League institution to a woeful 111. The club formerly occupied Yankee Stadium but was kicked out after two games in 1973 because of the modernization project currently underway.

The Giants, after posting an overall 2-11-1 mark in 1973, fired head coach Alex Webster and replaced him with Bill Arnsparger, who helped mold the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins in his role as defense coach.

The change was hardly apparent in the standings this year as the Giants finished a half game worse than the previous season.

The situation, with the Giants at Shea, will be less than ideal, particularly for both them and the Jets because no football game can be played in the ballpark until after the end of the baseball season on Sept. 28, leaving the Jets and Giants only 11 weekends to play their 14 home games.

And if the Yankees or Mets were to make it to the World Series, that would necessitate further schedule changes and limit the football teams to only eight weekends.

"This is not the proper way to make out a schedule for the National Football League," a NFL spokesman said, adding, "it's got to be a less than ideal schedule for the Giants."

The spokesman said the Jets, since they are the primary football tenants at Shea, would get first preference in scheduling over the Giants. He admitted it was likely some of the Giants' home games probably would have to be played on Saturdays or Monday nights, though not necessarily as part of the national television package because the Giants are hardly one of the NFL's more attractive teams.

Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor

Coach Ron Valle, who piloted the Onteora High School soccer varsity to a surprise Ulster County Athletic League championship, is a relatively young man in the coaching profession.

One of the first things any coach must face up to sooner or later is the vagaries of all-star selectors. There are a lot of factors that go into all-star selections, not all necessarily confined to the playing field.

The first lesson a coach has to learn is that winning a championship in any sport—does not guarantee a large percentage of first team picks. The system just doesn't work that way.

Coach Valle is disappointed that a couple of his top performers didn't make first team UCAL.

"It was a shame that only two boys from Onteora's championship team were chosen on the first team," says Valle. "Although four boys did make the second team, many knowledgeable soccer buffs in the area feel as I do that Conrad Earnest, our fine goalie, should have been picked on the first team."

"Another member who was overlooked was John Carlson," Valle added. "He was second team selection last season and second team again this year, even though everybody will tell you he was a better player. I don't think he received the recognition due him as one of the best ball handlers in the league."

There may have been similar reactions to the football selections and later on the basketball picks. Somebody gets disappointed. Somebody gets hurt in the mythical world of all-star teams. The selectors, by and large, are people of integrity with no axes to grind. But no all-star team ever satisfies everybody.

Valle did a remarkable job in arousing the Indian booters from a 3-7 record in 1973 to an 8-2 standard in 1974 and victory over New Paltz in the championship playoff.

There is some balm for Valle. Practically the entire championship outfit returns next season and in asterful understatement Valle says, "We will be hoping for another successful season." Who's going to stop them? And shouldn't there be more first-place all-star picks. Well, maybe, but don't bet on it.

The personable young coach took time out to thank some people who assisted the team in its championship season.

"Two people the team and I would like to thank again are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Marynowski," says Valle. "They put on a roast beef dinner for the team. We also would like to thank John Parete, proprietor of the Boiceville Inn, who gave the boys a free pizza party."

The ballots are out for the Baseball Writers of America's annual voting on Hall of Fame candidates. It's the last time around for Ralph Kiner, the former Pittsburgh Pirate slugger and New York Mets broadcaster. If Kiner doesn't make it this time, his name will be relegated to the Old Timers list which means that, when eventually selected, he would have to come in the back door.

John W. Crispens Sr. of Port Richey, Fla., has sent us a copy of a letter he wrote to the Baseball Writers of America in which he quoted liberally from a column we did on the subject in January of this year.

Mr. Crispens, who doesn't have to convince me, says: "You must consider the fact that Ralph was a superior player even though he played with inferior clubs. In other words, Mr. Tiano, he was the Pittsburgh franchise." Amen. Ralph Kiner owns one home run statistic that should be mind-boggling even to the new breed of selectors who take the final choice.

During a five-year stretch, from 1947 through 1951, Kiner amassed the greatest number of home runs—234 to be exact—than any other player in history over five consecutive seasons. Know who was second? The immortal Babe Ruth with 232, that's who. In 10 major league seasons, he slammed 369 home runs, just a shade under a per-season average of 37 homers. No one, dead or alive, can match those statistics.

If you want more, Kiner holds the major league record with eight home runs in four consecutive games and a National League record of 101 homers in two consecutive seasons—1949 and 1950.

Mr. Crispens exhorts the BWAA not to by-pass Ralph Kiner this last time around. To do so, he admonishes, would be to demean the greatest natural home run hitter of all time next to Babe Ruth.

And, while the writers are at it, there's another pretty good hand on the waiting list—Robin Roberts.

Amazing Performance by McGinnis

George McGinnis may eventually replace the Speedway as the No. 1 tourist attraction in Indianapolis.

The husky 6-foot-8 forward of the Indiana Pacers is one of those players, who as the saying goes, "can do it all." Wednesday night he gave a demonstration of his amazing versatility to the San Antonio Spurs with 45 points, 17 rebounds and 10 assists while leading the Pacers to a 128-122 victory.

With the score tied at 122 and only two minutes remaining, Darnell Hillman put the Pacers ahead with a jumper

Billy Keller chipped in with 22 points for the Pacers while Rich Jones led San Antonio with 32 points.

Elsewhere, Kentucky topped St. Louis 110-94, Virginia whipped Memphis 112-86 and San Diego defeated Utah 113-99. Colonels 110, Spirits 94.

Artis Gilmore scored 36 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked seven shots to spark Kentucky's victory.

Gaylord, Catfish Duo?

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Would you believe a pitching rotation that starts with Gaylord Perry and Jim "Catfish" Hunter?

The Cleveland Indians got halfway there Wednesday, announcing that Perry, their 21-gam winner, had signed a two-year contract and that they would talk Saturday with Hunter.

Perry, who has won 65 games in three years with the Tribe, came within one game of a league record when he won 15 straight last year en route to a 21-13 season.

One more consecutive victory would have tied the mark, but he lost 4-3 in 10 innings to the Oakland Athletics—the team which just lost Hunter through an arbitration decision.

"I'm going to stop in and see Catfish on the way home," Perry joked. The two men live 35 miles apart in North Carolina. Perry on a 1,500-acre farm and Hunter in Hertford, where he will talk Saturday with General Manager Phil Seghi and operating chief Ted Bonda of the Indians.

"I tried to get Mr. Seghi to put me in the same position as Catfish is, but he wouldn't go for it," Perry added without cracking a smile.

Hunter was ruled a free agent after, the arbitrators decided, the Athletics defaulted on payment provisions in his contract. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced that other clubs could begin talking to him.

EDNESDAY ALTHOUGH Athletics owner Charles Finley is fighting it in court.

The two men have the same agent, Jerry Kapstein, but Perry revealed he had negotiated his own contract with Seghi.

This is longer than it usually takes, but I was busy on the farm," he said.

Seghi said their negotiations were "friendly and amicable."

Perry joked that if he went to visit Hunter, Seghi should pick up the tab for the trip and Seghi responded quickly. "I've picked up all I can today."

"If we had Catfish, we would be in contention," Seghi said. "He would win 25 games for us," Perry added.

Perry and his brother Jim combined for 38 of the Indians' 77 victories last season and were voted co-men of the year by the local chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

They are to be honored at the annual baseball dinner Jan. 20.

Hurtin' Hondo Wounds Philly

John Havlicek is better on one leg than many players are on two.

The 34-year-old Boston veteran once more showed his ability to perform well under adverse physical conditions Wednesday night when he scored 27 points on a gimpy knee to lead the Celtics to a 131-99 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers in a National Basketball Association game.

Havlicek, playing with a protective device around his knee, and Don Nelson, who scored 25 points, took over the scoring burden when star center Dave Cowens was ejected from the game in the third quarter after receiving two technical fouls.

The 32-point loss was the second worse of the season for the 76ers, and the triumph was the Celtics' eighth in 13 starts since Cowens returned to the active list Nov. 22.

In other NBA action, Washington whipped New Orleans 113-90 and Seattle topped Detroit 100-97.

Bullets 113, Jazz 90

The Bullets clinched their 22nd victory in 30 games when they held the Jazz without a field goal for 12 minutes of the first half. Washington, leading only 23-20 after one quarter, boosted their margin to 56-37 at the half and coasted the rest of the way over the expansion club. Phil Chenier led the Bullets with 19 points while Jim Barnett led New Orleans with 16.

Supersonics 100, Pistons 97

Archie Clark, who lost the ball on a charging foul with 31 seconds left, atoned for his near-costly mistake with a basket with two seconds remaining to enable the Supersonics to snap a five-game losing streak. Fred Brown led Seattle with 34 points while Curtis Rowe and Bob Lanier each had 21 for Detroit.

Packers: Coach-Hunting

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)

—Dominic Olejniczak president of the Green Bay Packers, says the club's executive committee wants to name a successor to head Coach Dan Devine as early as possible but it is "not going to panic."

The seven-member executive committee met Wednesday to "go over ground rules" for finding a successor to Devine, who resigned under fire Monday and took the head coaching job at Notre Dame, replacing Ara Parseghian.

Devine was also general manager and Olejniczak said the possibility of splitting the two between two men was discussed by the boards.

"We had a very intelligent discussion on that," he said. "But there was no decision. I was very happy with the meeting. A lot of careful thought went into it on the part of the board members. But we did not make any decision whatever."

"We explored every possibility that you can think of in terms of our operation. We hope to finish this thing up as soon as possible. We will meet again soon."

Olejniczak indicated about a dozen men have applied for the head coaching job—all by phone and all since Devine turned in his resignation.

Sawyer Matmen Rally To Reverse Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

Joe Stoeckel pinned Paul Martin in 3:25 of their lightweight battle here Wednesday to give Ellenville High a head start on non-league opponent Saugerties, but two draws and six Sawyer triumphs turned things around to a 31-19 Saugerties victory.

Herman Knaust, Rich Dussol and Lars Houk all took decisions to pave the way to the win. Saugerties also won two bouts by default and took another via forfeit. In a heavyweight contest matching two All County football stars, Ellenville's Tony Del Gaizo defeated George Peterson, 8-0.

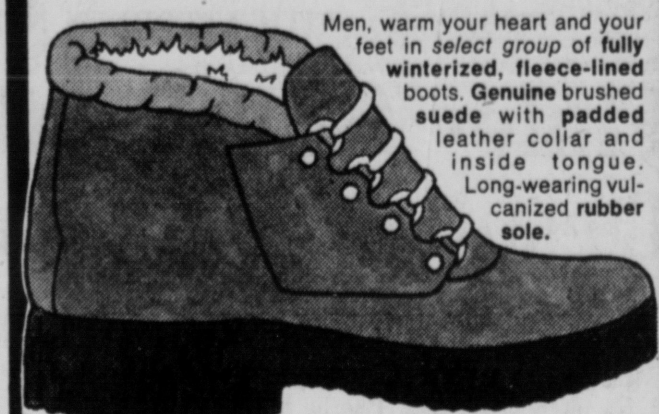

The summaries:

McGuire Had No Excuses for Pitt Shocker

A diet of humble pie and turnovers is hardly recommended fare for a winning college basketball team.

Highly touted Marquette found that out Wednesday night when the seventh-ranked Warriors suffered a 65-58 defeat at the hands of unranked Pittsburgh.

"They (Pittsburgh) were well-coached and they just beat us all the way," said Marquette Coach Al McGuire, refusing to make excuses for his club's poor performance. "It looks like we may have to eat a lot of humble pie this season. We just weren't physical enough for them and our turnovers hurt us badly."

Keith Starr and Kirk Bruce each tallied 13 points and Jim Bolla chipped in with 12 to lead the Panthers who squared their record at 3-3 and sent the Warriors down to their first loss in four games.

"It was a very critical win for us," said Pittsburgh Coach Buzz Ridl. "We had to find out if we could beat a good team and I think we did. At least, I hope we did."

Pittsburgh took a 40-30 lead at halftime thanks to 11 points from Starr but Marquette, which went to a full court press to open the second half, went on a 12-2 tear to tie the game 42-42 with 11:26 remaining.

The lead kept changing hands over the next seven minutes before a jump shot by Bruce with 4:19 left to play put Pittsburgh ahead for good.

Lloyd Walton's 17 points paced the Warriors while Marquette's leading scorer Bo Ellis, who collected his fourth personal foul less than one minute after the start of the second half and eventually fouled out with 2:19 left to play, finished with 16 points.

Fourth-ranked Louisville, the only other ranked team in action, upped its record to 4-0 by defeating Clemson 90-75 while in other major games, Army beat Scranton 65-61, Niagara edged Long Island University 78-77, Temple squeaked by Navy 64-63, Canisius nipped LaSalle 70-69, Fordham downed Icnny 85-77, Florida State whipped Cal State-Bakersfield 96-66, Louisiana State got by Tulane 84-82, Virginia Tech edged Ohio State 72-71, Eastern Illinois stunned Mississippi 85-65, Minnesota beat Loyola of Chicago 66-53, Stanford defeated Wisconsin 89-67, and Washington State topped Denver 72-69.

Phillip Bond scored 16 points and Alan Murphy added 15 to pace Louisville over Clemson, which played without leading scorer, Stan Wise. Wise, who had been averaging 22 points, was benched in a disciplinary action involving his being late for team meetings.

Ricky Hawthorne's 18 points led California over Rice; Russell Davis sank two free throws with only 11 seconds left to lift Virginia Tech over Ohio State; Mark Landsberger and Mark Olberding each scored 17 points for Minnesota in its win over Loyola;

Tim Patterson's 22 points helped Stanford beat Wisconsin; seven players scored in double figures for Florida State in its win over Bakersfield; and Steve Puidokas notched 24 points for Washington State to help the unbeaten Cougars beat Denver.

OCS Routs Rondout For 7th Straight Win

BOICEVILLE No matter how many players Coach Carol Okoren puts on the floor, the Onteora High School girls basketball team continues its unbeaten stampe through the Ulster County Girls League.

The latest opponent to feel the wrath of the OCS powerhouse was Rondout, a 51-16 victim, after falling behind 18-2 at the quarter. The victory left Coach Carol Okoren's team with a 6-0 record in the Northern Division of the UCL and 7-0 overall.

Ann Schroeder led Onteora with 19 points and 11 rebounds, Debbie Cease turned in another fine all-round performance with 13 points, six steals and seven assists. Colleen Duffy rimmed 9 points and had 8 rebounds.

"All our players saw action after the first quarter and I was again pleased with the progress shown by many of reserves," said Coach Okoren.

Onteora (51)—Tetta, Despres 2, Cease 13, Cifello, Lapo, Jennings, Melius 3, Quick, Duffy 9, Schroeder 19, Stoothoff, Shultis 5, Fitzsimmons.

Rondout (16)—Finch 4, Downs 2, C. Navarra 6, K. Navarra, Deleo 4, Sommers, Hywe...

☆☆☆☆ Bevegliendo hooped 22 points to pace the Walkkill High School girls varsity to a 39-21 win over Ellenville High in the Ulster County Girls Basketball League.

Margaret Wilson was runner-up for the Walkkill team which led 18-9 at the half. Joyce Teder paced Ellenville with 10 points.

Walkkill (39)—Vegliendo 22, Coulard 2, Wilson 11, Crawford, Ivanoff, Morrissey 4, Williamson.

Ellenville (21)—Teder 10, Moseley 8, Jones 2, Scherrill 4, Storms 1, Wright 2.

Harry Hooper Dead

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — Former Boston Red Sox outfielder Harry Hooper, who had been the oldest living member of the Baseball Hall of Fame, died Tuesday at the age 87.

Hooper, together with Tris Speaker and Duffy Lewis, made up a great defensive outfield that helped Boston win the World Series in 1912, 1915, 1916 and 1918.

In a crucial eighth game that decided one of the series, Hooper fell over a fence after making a barehanded running catch.

The Gilroy, Calif., native played with the Red Sox from 1909 to 1920 and for the Chicago White Sox from 1921 to 1925. He also coached for Princeton and served as postmaster for Capitola, Calif.

He remained an active duck hunter until a recent illness.

A rosary will be said for Hooper tonight at White's Mortuary in Santa Cruz, followed by a Mass of Resurrection Friday at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE COMPANY SCHEDULES FOR BUSY LINE VERIFICATION

Notice is hereby given that the following provisions for busy line verification procedures have been filed with the Public Service Commission pursuant to its Opinion and Order issued October 24, 1974 in Case 26311. The proposed effective date of the tariff is January 10, 1975. The Company has been directed to modify its procedures in regard to busy line verification, in accordance with the Opinion, 60 days from the issuance of its Order.

BUSY LINE VERIFICATION SERVICE

Upon request of a calling party, the Company will verify a busy condition on a called line in accordance with the following procedures:

1. The assistance operator will dial the called number, and, if a busy line signal is received, will report the fact to the calling party. Unless the provisions of Paragraph 2 following apply, the assistance operator will then request the calling party to wait for a short time and dial again.
2. The assistance operator will refer the call to the verification operator if (1) the caller indicates an emergency or (2) the caller indicates that either the calling or called party is elderly, ill or handicapped or (3) the caller indicates that several attempts over a period of time to place the call have resulted in a busy signal.
3. The verification operator will determine if the line appears to be clear, in use, or out of order, and report to the calling party.
4. The verification operator will interrupt a conversation in progress on the called line only if the calling party indicates an emergency and requests interruption.

Gros Faces Challenge From Three Cup Aces

MADONNA DI CAMPIGLIO, Italy (UPI) — The way defending champion Piero Gros sees it, there is a four-way fight shaping up for this season's World Cup ski title.

The young Italian, out to make it two in a row, sees his main competitors as Austria's Franz Klammer, three-time former champion and Italian teammate Gustavo Thoeni and Sweden's 18-year-old Ingemar Stenmark.

So far Gros has won the two giant slaloms, Klammer the two downhills and Stenmark the one slalom. Klammer leads in points because he also placed fifth in the giant slalom at Val d'Isere, France, and fourth in Wednesday's giant slalom at this Dolomite mountain resort.

The 20-year-old Gros hasn't picked up any points in the downhill and a mistake in the second run of Tuesday's slalom, here cost him dearly. He finished 17th.

With the rule change this season that gives points for the best combined standings in the downhill and giant slalom at Wengen, Switzerland; Kitzbühel, Austria; and Megeve, Chamonix, France, Gros needs all the slalom points he can get — and some from the downhill too.

"It is almost a necessity now for me to earn some points in the downhill," the soft-spoken blond skier told newsmen after Wednesday's event.

Klammer, 20, said at the start of the season he wasn't aiming for the World Cup title. What mattered to him was winning every downhill event.

But after his strong showing in the giant slalom he may be changing his mind. He was 69 championship points to 50 for Gros and 45 for Stenmark. Thoeni trails with 14.

Thoeni, 23, is more of a threat than he appears because although he, too, is a slalom expert, he is better than Gros in the downhill and he has been training intensively in downhill skiing.

He was sixth in the downhill at Val d'Isere and fifth in the giant slalom here.

As Gros pointed out, Thoeni always gets off to a slow start en route to winning three titles starting in 1971 and was second behind Gros in 1974.

Stenmark claims he can't win the World Cup this year. "I'm not good enough," he said before going out and winning the slalom here. He also placed second in the giant slalom at Val d'Isere and he leads in European Cup standings.

What might hurt the young Laplander's chances is that he has no intention of trying to win in the downhill. He says it was too much downhill training that is hurting Thoeni in the slalom.

Stenmark has his eye on the 1976 Winter Olympics and doesn't want anything to interfere with his chances of winning a gold medal in the slalom — and maybe another in the giant slalom.

The fastest way to any teller is a single line

Now, not only can you save money at Heritage, but you can also save valuable time.

With our new Single Line Teller System you'll be able to transact your banking business faster than ever before and be on your way. That's a promise.

This new system has been adopted at the Main Office because of increased traffic and the need to expedite customer service.

The Single Teller Line System enables a customer to move to the first available teller rather than lining up at random at a specific window and perhaps spending more time than necessary at the bank while someone else is involved in a lengthy transaction. This system also insures additional privacy — with no one standing over your shoulder while you bank.

The fastest way to any teller is a single line. You'll see.

Billie Jean With ABC

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tennis star Billie Jean King announced today she had signed an exclusive contract with the American Broadcasting Company at a salary which "wouldn't be less than a guy's" for a period of two years.

Ms. King, who just lost her No. 1 USLTA ranking to Chris Evert, said that tennis would be only one of a number of sports she would engage in as a regular commentator for ABC.

"We reached an agreement before the rankings were announced. Besides rankings don't mean much anyhow. I've been there before," she said.

Billie Jean said she would curtail her tournament activity in 1975, limiting herself to the Virginia Slim circuit to matches in San Francisco and Sarasota, Fla. Most of her time will be devoted to World Team Tennis where she is player-coach of the Philadelphia club.

She said that Wimbledon and Forest Hills have not been ruled out, but her status for those two events would depend upon her commitments at ABC. She won at Forest Hills in 1974.

"I'll be primarily featured as a hostess on a prime time women's sport special next September which will specialize on the women athletes gearing for the 1976 Olympics.

"I've got news for you," Ms. King smiled. "I don't really know how much I'll be getting for the TV job, but Boone Arledge (president of ABC sports) tells me it will be commensurate with my standing in sports, and you know that I won't take less than a guy."

Liberty No. 15

KINGSTON
Ulster County Athletic League powerhouses Liberty and Fallsburgh High Schools are listed among the top 20 small school basketball teams in New York State according to the State Sports Writers Association's initial poll of the 1974-75 season.

Liberty is No. 15 on the ladder, based on its first game win over New Paltz. Fallsburgh, defending UCL champ, is No. 20.

Syracuse Sacred Heart is No. 1 small school. Lutheran of Brookville tops the large school list.

A Vanishing Breed . . . The Dime Newspaper

RESTON, Va. (UPI) — The day of the dime newspaper is vanishing quickly.

A survey by the American Newspaper Publishers Association indicates the number of 15-cent daily newspapers has more than doubled from 425 to 855 since a year ago.

The survey shows there are 938 daily newspapers in North America selling for 15 cents per copy, an increase of 97 per cent over last year. There are 832 still selling for a dime, but the figure is down by almost 37 per cent since 1973.

Sunday editions also are increasing, with a third selling for 35 cents. Only two papers are priced at five cents, while for the first time three newspapers are selling for cents, one for 60 cents, and one — the Boston Globe — for 75 cents.

The survey covered 1864 newspapers in the United States, Canada, Bahamas, Bermuda, Guam and Puerto Rico.

Rhinebeck 'Rampage'

RHINEBECK Four northern Dutchess County youths who allegedly went on a vandalism rampage in the Village of Rhinebeck early today and then fought with state troopers who tried to take them into custody were arrested on multiple charges.

Trooper Thomas Wood sustained a broken wrist in the scuffle, Rhinebeck State Police said.

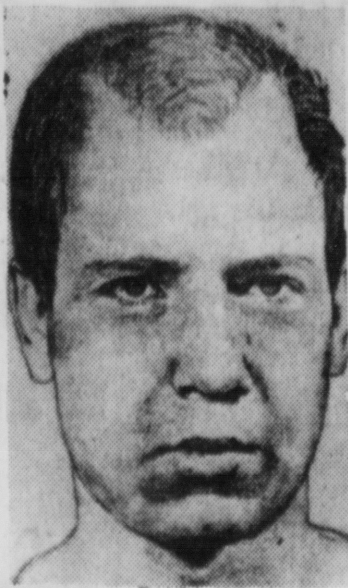

Among those arrested were a 16 and 17-year-old, both of whom are eligible for youthful offender status and were not identified. They were charged with disorderly conduct and public intoxication. The 17-year-old was also charged with obstructing governmental administration.

Victor Wack, 20, of Rhinebeck was charged with second degree assault, criminal possession of a weapon in the fourth degree (a knife), resisting arrest, public intoxication, disorderly conduct and unlawfully dealing with a minor (for allegedly giving alcohol to minors).

Preston Mayes, 18, of Rhinebeck was charged with disorderly conduct, obstructing governmental administration and with unlawfully dealing with a minor.

Troopers said they were called to Rhinebeck at about 2:30 a.m. The youths had allegedly erected barricades in the streets, pulled up street signs, tore apart Christmas decorations and broken a chair on the porch of the Beekman Arms.

Kills Self

Artist's sketch shows Arthur Gagnier, a 24-year-old escaped convict who described himself in an "open letter to society" as a "dead man in waiting," killed himself when police raided his downtown Montreal apartment. Gagnier, jailed almost constantly since the age of 14, was convicted and serving a life sentence for the slaying of a Montreal taxi driver in 1967. He had been sought in the Nov. 2 murders of Dr. Gaston Perreault, 43, and police constable Aime Pelletier, 39, who were gunned down during a robbery Nov. 2. (UPI)

$1 Million Awarded

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Michelle Ahearn, 35, and her husband, Dennis, have been awarded more than $1 million damages in a suit over birth control pills which she said made her permanently blind.

A Santa Clara County Superior Court jury awarded the woman $1,248,254 and her husband $105,668.

The defendants were Ortho Pharmaceutical Co., manufacturer of Ortho-Novum, the Johnson & Johnson drug company, and Lucky Stores, owner of the pharmacy where the drug was purchased on a prescription.

During the trial Mrs. Ahearn testified that she suffered severe headaches in February, 1969, and became totally blind a few days later.

Medical experts testified that her blindness was caused by clotting in the blood supply serving the eyes.

A spokesman for Johnson & Johnson said after the trial Monday that the decision would be appealed.

The defense claimed the woman suffered an infection that caused the clotting. However, the jury held the pill was a significant contributing factor.

Pair Are Arrested

WALLKILL Highland State Police and Town of Shawangunk Constables teamed up early today to arrest two youths in connection with an alleged burglary at a Wallkill grocery store.

Charged with third degree burglary were David Albert, 19, of Pine Bush, and William Heddy, 19, of Plattekill.

Troopers said the pair had allegedly entered Max's Grocery in Wallkill and piled up groceries near a rear door, but were scared off. A neighbor reportedly saw the pair, and they were later picked up in the Town of Shawangunk after hitching a ride in an auto.

Deeming it impossible to thank all in person we wish to take this means to thank the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith, Dr. Amatrano, Dr. Reppert, the Nursing Staff especially those in the I.C.U. of the Kingston Hospital, who showed their many acts of kindness during his illness.

Also the management and employees of Central Hudson Gas Elect. Corp. and our many relatives and friends for their acts of kindness during our recent bereavement.

Charles G. Grunenwald

Charles G. Grunenwald, 71, 54 Lincoln Street, died early today following a long illness. A native of Germany he came to this country at an early age and has been a long time resident of Kingston. Prior to his retirement he was employed as a master cabinet maker for Cassidy and Sons. He was a member of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, and Kingston Maennerchor-Damenchor Inc. His wife, the former Elizabeth Melbert, predeceased him in June 1971. Surviving are two brothers: William of Kingston and Julius Grunenwald in Germany; several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue, Saturday at 11 a.m. The Rev. Alvin Messersmith, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in Montrose Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Trinity Lutheran Church Memorial Fund. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday 2-4 and 7-9.

Mrs. Wanda S. Hildebrandt

Mrs. Wanda S. Hildebrandt, 88, wife of the late Raymond Hildebrandt, died in this city Wednesday, Dec. 18. Surviving is a brother, Robert K. Story, Jr., of West Palm Beach, Fla. Services will be at the convenience of the family with burial in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn. Funeral Arrangements are under the direction of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl Street.

Ad Correction

An advertisement in the Tuesday edition of the Daily Freeman incorrectly listed the sale price of a hi-fi cassette record play deck at t. Entronc, 763 Ulster Avenue Mall. The item, made by Channel Master, has an original list price of $179.95, and is on sale at Entronc for $99.95. The advertisement incorrectly stated the sale price as $119.95.

Mrs. Ada Scherer

Mrs. Ada Scherer, 86, of Austin Acres, Catskill, formerly of 142 St. James Street, Kingston, died at Catskill Dec. 18, after a long illness. Born in Kingston, Oct. 31, 1888, she was a daughter of the late George and Alfretha Krom Heiser. Her husband, Richard A. Scherer predeceased her. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Wax and a son-in-law, Dr. William Vernon Wax of Austin Acres, Catskill. Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Richards Funeral Home, 26 North Vernon Street, Athens. The Rev. John Dykstra, pastor of the Reformed Church of Catskill, will officiate. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery, Kingston. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening 7-9.

Samuel Wilbur Anthony

Samuel Wilbur Anthony, 72, of 151 Hasbrouck Avenue, Port Ewen, died Wednesday at the Kingston Hospital after a lengthy illness. Mr. Anthony had been employed by R.H. Macy Inc. as manager of the corporate buying office until his retirement seven years ago. He was a member of the Port Ewen Reformed Church and was past master of the Normal Lodge No. 523, F&AM, and past president of the Town of Esopus Senior Citizens. Born Jan. 18, 1902 at Cannonsburg, Pa., he was the son of the late Orrin and Rachel Pease Anthony. Mr. Anthony is survived by his widow, Margaret Webster Anthony; a son, G. CHRISTMAS IS A TIME FOR REMEMBERING...

Family, old friends and past times... and we remember the little children and families in need.

On that one special day our hearts should be opened to all in a spirit of living.

But there are many we seem to forget every year. We're speaking about the many thousands of aged and infirm citizens who have contributed so much in so many ways in the past, and who are now, in their twilight years, often neglected and unremembered...even at Christmas.

Let's change that this year. WKOT COUNTRY RADIO wants you to join us in remembering our Senior Citizens this Christmas. Remember them with a small gift showing that we care.

To help us gather as many gifts as possible, WKOT will be broadcasting live from an Uptown Kingston store, and we invite you to visit with us and bring your gift.

Listen to WKOT/1550 RADIO on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 19-20-21 and we'll tell you where to deposit your gift. LET'S REMEMBER THE ELDERLY... We owe them so much.

WKOT REMEMBERS...WILL YOU?

Kenya Seals Off Borders

NAIROBI (UPI) — Kenya moved today to seal off its borders with neighboring Tanzania in the face of a deepening diplomatic and economic crisis between the two East African countries, government sources said.

African diplomats said the latest crisis could finally break up the three-nation East African Community of Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda — the region's equivalent of the European Common Market.

The Kenyan action followed several weeks of bitter exchanges between the two countries over trade and foreign national working in Kenya and Tanzania.

The Tanzanian government recently banned all heavy duty Kenyan trucks from passing through Tanzania en route to Zambia, crippling Kenya's annual $250 million trade with Zambia.

Tanzania then expelled scores of Kenyans working in Tanzania.

In retaliation, the Kenyan government Wednesday responded to internal political pressure by agreeing to fire Tanzanians here in jobs which Kenyans could fill.

Late Wednesday rail services between the two countries were suspended. Kenya began to seal the countries' common border in what officials described as retaliatory measures.

Air service between the two countries, however, still operated normally.

The East African Community, which regulates cooperation between the three countries in such fields as joint rail, air and port services, has been in disarray for some time because of Uganda's constant feuding with Tanzania.

Until now Kenya remained generally aloof from such squabbles, but diplomatic observers said the latest crisis could now wreck the community totally.

Senior Gifts

KINGSTON Radio station WKOT launched a special live broadcast appeal today for small gifts for area senior citizens.

The appeal is being broadcast from Shults Paint Co., 37 North Front Street, and will continue through Saturday.

A spokesman for the station said WKOT was concerned that although many groups of needy persons are remembered during the holiday season, a large segment of the population — elderly men and women — is often forgotten.

Tony Angelo, station sales manager, said it is hoped the public's attention will be drawn to the problem.

Angelo said that area residents can help make the project successful by leaving a small gift-wrapped item — designated either for a man or woman — at the broadcast location or at any one of the branches of the Roundout National Bank in Kingston, Saugerties, Woodstock or New Paltz.

Library Closed

The local history museum of the Ellenville Public Library and Museum will be closed for parking at 4 p.m. Friday, Dec. 20, and will reopen in the spring.

The rest of the library will be moving to the new Joseph Y. Resnick Memorial Building, and the museum will be moving to the present quarters of the library's adult services section in the Hunt Memorial Building.

Congress Bill Orders 55-MPH Enforcement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has voted to allow heavier trucks on the nation's interstate highways, a step branded as "a rape of the motorist" by the American Automobile Association.

The increased weight limits were attached to a $752.8 million federal aid for highways bill which also ordered states to enforce the 55 mile an hour speed limit under penalty of losing federal highway funds.

The bill also banned jumbo billboards which cropped up far back from the highway after Congress banned such signs within 660 feet of federal highways.

The compromise measure passed the Senate 67 to 27, then passed the House 307 to 67. President Ford's position on it is not known.

The basic increase in truck weight — the first increase allowed in 18 years — would be from the present 73,280 pounds to 80,000 pounds.

Maximum axle loadings would be increased from 18,000 to 20,000 pounds for a single axle and from 32,000 to 34,000 for a tandem axle.

But a seemingly minor clause added by a House-Senate conference committee would allow much greater increases in at least 15 states, the AAA charged.

That clause would allow states which now have higher weight limits on non-interstate highways to adopt these heavier weights on interstate highways.

Proponents of heavier trucks say it is unrealistic to keep truck weights low on interstate highways when some states allow heavier weights on other roads.

They also say the energy problem makes it desirable to carry more goods on each truck.

Over the years, the Senate has passed several bills allowing heavier trucks, but the House has consistently balked, the last time in August.

To overcome this obstacle, members of the House and Senate Public Works Committees arranged for the Senate to pass the weight increase as part of the highway bill, but to leave the weight section out of the House bill.

When some House members attempted to have the House instruct its negotiators not to accept the truck language in a House-Senate conference, they were blocked by a series of parliamentary maneuvers.

Then, when the bill went to conference, the conferees not only accepted the Senate provisions but strengthened them by removing a 10,000-pound limit on steering axles and adding the clause transferring non-interstate weight limits to interstate highways.

Dutchess Indicts Two On Fund Charges

POUGHKEPSE, N.Y. (UPI) — A Dutchess County grand jury Wednesday handed up indictments against William Schaub, of Stormville, and Donald MacLachlan, of Milton, on charges of misappropriating more than $100,000 in funds in connection with a home construction business.

The two are corporate officers of B&B Realty Corp., formerly of Wappingers Falls.

District Attorney Alfred Rosenblatt said Schaub and MacLachlan were charged with violating the state lien law by misappropriating monies, received from home buyers, which according to law should have been held in trust.

U.S. Pay Opposition Buried in UN

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. General Assembly wound up its 1974 session Wednesday night after burying U.S. opposition to an across-the-board 6 per cent pay rise for 30,000 U.N. employees under an avalanche of votes.

Assembly President Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria rapped his gavel to signal a recess at 10:08 p.m. EST.

In the closing moments of the session, U.S. Ambassador John Scali hinted at a news conference that a new step in the disengagement of Israeli and Arab forces was in the offing that could defuse WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth W. Parkinson, counsel for President Richard Nixon's 1972 re-election committee, testified Wednesday it was "quite correct, natural and proper" to take a message from a Watergate conspirator's lawyer to the White House.

"I felt it was important to bring these same matters up with John Dean, the counsel to the president," Parkinson said under cross-examination at the Watergate cover-up trial in which he testified in his own defense.

"He had made it clear to me ... he wanted to be kept informed. I felt it was quite correct, natural and proper."

"He was not your client, was he?" Assistant Watergate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford plans to sign legislation today denying Richard Nixon custody of his presidential tapes and papers.

The bill grants permanent custody of the historical documents to the General Services Administration. The tapes, papers, and documents covering Nixon's five and a half years would be open to public inspection except those that deal with national security.

Nixon would have access and, under provisions of the bill, could go to federal court to seek compensation.

the present tense situation in the Middle East.

Instead of adjourning the 29th annual session, the 138-member body agreed without a vote to recess so that it could reconvene without delay if Middle East developments necessitate.

This parliamentary device was used last year and in 1968 to permit quick action without resorting to the time-consuming process of polling members on calling a special session.

West Germany and the United States told the Assembly's last meeting of the year that they would not contribute to a special U.N. fund for emergency aid to countries caught in the global economic squeeze.

White House Organization ... 'Pure Jerry Ford'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has reorganized his staff, is beginning to make cabinet changes and by the end of the day will have a vice president.

With this administration machinery taking shape, Ford set aside time to look at energy problems and to consider bills approved by the adjourning 93d Congress for his signature.

The President is studying a set of options drafted at his request by his energy advisers at Camp David, Md., last weekend.

They were believed to include proposals for mandatory allocation of energy supplies, gasoline rationing, a limit on imports and an idea Ford has repeatedly rejected — a gasoline tax.

Legislation on Ford's desk includes a $5.5 billion measure approved by Congress to provide public service jobs and benefits for the unemployed, a strip mining control bill which the White House has opposed.

A reorganization of the White House staff was announced Wednesday, and White House chief of staff Donald Rumsfeld called it "pure Jerry Ford" in style.

It has nine chief aides report directly to Ford on their policy areas rather than work through an inner power circle as in the Nixon White House.

White House sources said John Robson, a Chicago transportation specialist, will be named transportation secretary, to succeed Claude S. Brinegar, who Wednesday became the second holdover from the Nixon cabinet to announce his resignation.

The first was Attorney General William Saxbe. With 93d Congress headed for final adjournment by the end of the week, Ford was making Christmas holiday plans.

He will fly to Vail, Colo., with his wife and daughter Susan, 17, for a two-week stay, dividing his time between work and the ski slopes.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said jokingly that Ford is a "hotdog" on skis, which implied fancy footwork and perhaps somersaults.

But a more serious assessment placed Ford in the "intermediate" class. He has had lessons and will take more during the holidays.

Watergate Testimony in the Homestretch

Prosecutor Jill W. Volner asked.

"No," Parkinson said in one of his many terse answers during two days on the witness stand.

Parkinson testified he never looked at the memo in delivering it to Dean. Re-election committee aide Fred LaRue, former White House assistant, has testified the memo was a "laundry list" of needs the original defendants faced as their January, 1973, trial approached.

Today may be the last day of testimony in the trial, now in its 57th day. Jacob A. Stein, Parkinson's lawyer, was expected to call four or five defense witnesses. A source indicated chief trial prosecutor James F. Neal would call one or two witnesses to bolster the case against former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian.

After that, Neal will begin closing arguments in the case, which now is expected to go to the jury the day after Christmas.

Parkinson said his firm represented the re-election committee at a price of $360,000 from June 22, 1972, five days after the break-in at the Democratic national offices, until last March.

Ford to Sign Bill Keeping Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford plans to sign legislation today denying Richard Nixon custody of his presidential tapes and papers.

The bill grants permanent custody of the historical documents to the General Services Administration. The tapes, papers, and documents covering Nixon's five and a half years would be open to public inspection except those that deal with national security.

Nixon would have access and, under provisions of the bill, could go to federal court to seek compensation.

Ford's decision to sign the bill erased a potential threat to the adjournment of the 93rd Congress.

Congressional leaders were determined to stay in session until midnight Friday, when the bill would have gone into law automatically if Ford had taken no action.

But if Congress were to have adjourned before midnight Friday, Ford could have ignored the bill and it would have been killed by a pocket veto.

The Senate approved the bill 56-7 and the House by an overwhelming voice vote.

The bill nullifies an agreement between Ford and Nixon under which the tapes and papers would have been Nixon's property — housed at a special facility under the guardianship of the GSA — for five years.

Turk Aid ... Grudgingly

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has grudgingly given President Ford permission to resume military aid to Turkey until Feb. 5.

The administration's legislative victory on aid to Turkey was included in a $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill which received final congressional approval and was sent to the White House Wednesday.

In a narrow 209-189 vote, the House approved the foreign aid authorization bill. The closeness of the vote underscored the deep congressional objection to giving Turkey any military aid until a Cyprus peace settlement is reached.

With adjournment a day or two away, Congress does not have time to act on a foreign aid appropriations bill. It will be considered after the 94th Congress convenes next month. Authorization bills set program levels. Appropriations bills provide the actual money.

Earlier this year, Congress voted to suspend military aid to Turkey until Dec. 10.
